ASSAULT VICTIM FIGHTS FOR LIFE

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MAN is in a critical condition after being attacked in Harlow town centre.

The 52-year-old victim sustained life-threatening injuries during the assault outside Harlow Bowl, in Terminus Street, at 8.15pm on Thursday.

Police have not disclosed the nature of the man's injuries but said no weapons were used.

He is being treated at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

This week detectives appealed for anyone who was in the area at the time and who may have seen the attack to contact them.

They are particularly keen to speak to three young men who are known to have visited the bowling alley earlier in the evening and who may have witnessed events as they left the premises.

Detective Chief Inspector Mark Hall, of the Kent and Essex Serious Crime Directorate major crime team said: "I am keen to speak with three young men, who I know from CCTV were in the vicinity at the time."

"They are not in any trouble but I believe they may hold important information. I would ask that they and anyone else who witnessed the incident make contact with police."

Anyone with information should contact the investigation team at Brentwood Police Station on 101 or 0300 333 4444 if calling from outside Essex.

● A 52-year-old woman from Harlow has been arrested on suspicion of attempted murder and released on police bail until December 21 while the investigation continues.

Dog abandoned after botched attempt at tail docking

RSPCA inspectors are appealing for information after a dog was found wandering in a Harlow neighbourhood following a botched attempt to dock its tail.

The distressed animal, which still had a rubber band wrapped tightly around the stump, was found in the Stewards area at around 3.30pm on Wednesday, November 9.

The person who found it contacted the local dog warden, who took the animal to a vet for treatment on an open wound at the base of its tail.

RSPCA inspector Stephen Reeves said: "This poor dog appears to have been the victim of a home tail docking botch-up and then abandoned."

"He was in great pain. It is against the law for dog owners to dock tails and we would like to know where this dog came from."

The dog, a young terrier crossbreed, is now in the care of Harlow Council. Anyone with any information should contact the RSPCA on 0300 123 4999.

Council staff get exclusive use for riverside parking

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

CONTROVERSIAL plans to restrict public parking at a free riverside car park popular with anglers and walkers have been agreed.

Harlow Council's cabinet voted on Thursday to change the site off Burnt Mill Lane into a permit-only zone for the exclusive use of Essex County Council employees based at nearby Goodman House.

The restrictions will apply from 7.30am-5.30pm on weekdays, with the car park remaining free for the general public on weekends and bank holidays.

Harlow Council will receive an undisclosed annual payment from County Hall in return for exclusive use of the car park during working hours, with the new arrangements set to be formalised in April next year.

FLASHBACK: Star, February 24

malised in April next year.

The site, which is sandwiched between Burnt Mill Lock and Harlow Town Station, is currently used by anglers, boaters, birdwatchers, joggers, cyclists and walkers as a base to explore the picturesque Maymeads Marsh Nature Reserve.

After the Star reported on the plan to introduce restrictions back in February, furious residents and regular users started a campaign urging the authority to retain the car park for public use.

This week Stort Valley Angling Society chairman Mick Westby accused the council of putting profit before the needs of Harlow residents.

"I'm absolutely disgusted that these plans have been pushed through," he said. "It's a disaster for our disabled members and others with disabilities who use the area as a convenient access point for the river and footpaths."

"They'll now have to trek along a very dangerous road from the Moorhen pub car park to reach this area."

"Surely people living here or visiting the Town Park have more right to park here than staff from out of town. I expect the council is getting a nice fat cheque in return for ignoring the needs of the general public."

Keen cyclist John Curry, a regular visitor to the area, said council staff already have access to private parking spaces outside the authority's offices in Station Approach.

"There are plenty of spaces outside Goodman House, most of which remain empty throughout the working week," he said.

"Why the county council thinks it needs the Burnt Mill site as an overspill is beyond me."

But Tony Hall, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for the environment, said the new arrangements would make "best use" of the site, adding that the council planned to create several additional disabled bays on Burnt Mill Lane to cater for Blue Badge holders.

"The Burnt Mill car park will formalise a situation where there was ad-hoc parking," he said. "It is an area that has never been a formal car park and therefore best use of space has never been utilised."

"The public have been made aware that the Moorhen car park, which is approximately 200 yards away from the new car park site, is free at any time."

Can you lend a hand at Christmas haven?

A CHARITY providing food and shelter to Harlow's homeless over the Christmas period is seeking volunteers to help out.

Haven, which will open its annual night shelter on December 23, wants to hear from people able to cover four-hour shifts at its base in the Great Parndon Community Centre Play Barn in Abercrombie Way.

Charity chairman Mick Granger said: "We are once again looking for selfless volunteers willing to give up some of their time to help out those less fortunate."

Anyone interested in volunteering can attend a meeting taking place at the GPCA at 7.30pm next Thursday (December 1) or contact Mick on (01279) 898806.

Friends plan fun day for memorial to Lisa

APPEAL: Carley Barrett, Mike Barrett and Leanne Shand with Sienna Shand (5) and Tianna Shand (6) (photo: HAR0786522)

FRIENDS of a Harlow woman who lost her life to cancer three years ago are planning a fundraising event to help her children buy a headstone for their mother's grave.

Mike Barrett and his sister Carley, of Halling Hill, were close friends with Lisa Shand, who lost her two-year battle against breast cancer in 2008.

The pair have remained in regular contact with Lisa's four children and are hoping to host a family fun day to raise the £3,000 needed for the headstone – but urgently need donations to make it a truly memorable event.

"When Lisa passed away the family had no finances to provide a headstone for her grave, something that has always upset her eldest daughter Leanne who is now raising her siblings," said Mike.

"With Leanne, we decided to host a Winter Wonderland fun day in memory of her mum to raise the money to fix this.

"Although we already have a lot of activities arranged for the event, we are hoping kind-hearted individuals and companies in Harlow will help give it that boost to make it really spectacular."

Mike, Carley and Leanne, who will also be donating a percentage of profits to Cancer Research UK, are asking for donations of old Christmas decorations, fairy lights, trees and sheets of black fabric as well as raffle, auction and lucky dip prizes.

They also want performance groups to entertain visitors entertained during the day, including any volunteers who can help with creating and running a Santa's grotto.

"There will be up to 20 stands selling Christmas gifts, cards and refreshments, whilst Christmas games and activities will be taking place throughout the day, including a performance from a local dance troupe," said Mike.

"Then, from 7pm, a Christmas-themed family disco will start which will feature both a DJ and later in the evening a live singer."

He added: "Lisa loved Christmas time and welcomed everyone to her house over this period. By holding this event, we feel her friends and family will be closer to Lisa again while also giving the community an opportunity to have a fun family day out."

The Winter Wonderland event takes place at Paringdon Sports Club on Saturday, December 10. Tickets, which cost £8 for adults and £5 for children, need to be purchased in advance by visiting www.winterwonderland.page4.me/.

To make a donation or offer your support, contact Mike on 07714452465 or email mikeyb_jordan@hotmail.com.

Last chance to be a Games ambassador

ANYONE interested in volunteering to represent Essex as an ambassador for for next year's Olympic and Paralympic Games have just one week left to apply.

After previously extending the deadline, Essex County Council is reminding people the closing date is now next Friday (December 3).

Key roles taken by successful volunteers will include providing information and guidance on the Games events, transport queries and general tourist information and to support spectators during the bigger Essex-based events.

Stephen Castle, cabinet member for education and the Games, said: "As a host county for the London Olympics this is our opportunity to showcase the people and places of Essex."

"It is also a great opportunity for our residents to play their part in the Games and represent our county to the world."

For further information or to apply to become an Essex ambassador, visit www.essexlegacy.org. Application forms are also available at all Harlow libraries and the town's volunteer centre.

All welcome at Melle's Zumba fundraiser

Organised by instructor Melle John, pictured right, the afternoon and evening event in aid of St Clare Hospice aims to get everyone up and dancing whatever their age or ability. "We're encouraging all Zumba enthusiasts and those who've never tried it before to come and join in with a really fun event for a really great cause," said Melle.

"We have a full programme of activities lined up including special Zumbatomic workshops and games for the kids, a Zumbathon routine for the adults, a Latin blast salsa workshop and food and refreshments.

"There is also the opportunity to win some fantastic prizes in a raffle which will be drawn at the end of the night."

The event, which is taking place at Passmore Academy on Saturday, begins with an hour's Zumbatomic for four-seven year-olds at 3pm, followed at 4.30pm by another hour of Zumbatomics for eight-12 year-olds. The adult session for ages 13 plus begins at 7pm.

"Fantastically all of the instructors and entertainers have donated their time, Passmore Academy have donated their venue and all of our raffle prizes have been donated so we hope to make a lot of money for St Clare," added Melle.

"Whatever your age or ability, come down and enjoy some great Latin music whilst getting fit and having fun. It's exercise in disguise!"

Tickets for the event cost £5 for children and £11 for adults and include a goody bag. They can be purchased on the day or by calling Melle on 07956 121866. For more details visit www.stclaresumbathon.eventbrite.com.

Play barn blaze was started deliberately

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Council is counting the cost of a fire that ripped through a community centre in the early hours of Saturday morning.

It is feared the Nicholls Field Play Barn, which is regularly used as a base for local community groups and changing rooms for football teams playing in the Harlow District League, may have to be demolished after being gutted in the arson attack.

The building had only recently been given a makeover by pupils from Passmores Academy, who painted colourful murals on the exterior walls with help from local artist Philip Melling.

Joel Charles, the council's portfolio holder for community and citizenship, told the Star: "This utterly mindless attack has not only deprived local football players of a changing room but robbed the local community of a useful facility."

"The fire damage is so severe we have called in structural engineers to assess the stability of the barn. Only then will we know if the building is salvageable."

Firefighters attended the scene shortly after 2.30am to find the single-story building well alight.

Crews using breathing apparatus battled the flames for more than two hours before they managed to extinguish the blaze. A high-pressure fan was then used to clear the premises of smoke.

Station officer Dave Barritt said: "Firefighters did an excellent job in tackling the fire in the community youth centre. Their work prevented the fire from completely destroying the building."

"The fire has now been investigated and we have found it was started deliberately."

Police are appealing to anyone with information about the fire to contact officers at Harlow police station on 101 (0300 333 4444 if calling from outside Essex).

Isle-to-isle bike trek adventure is family affair

THREE generations of the same family raised more than £2,000 for Harlow Amateur Boxing Club after saddling up for an island-hopping bike trek through the Outer Hebrides.

Graham Ellis (62), son Greg (37) and grandson Georgie (10) - who trains at the club on Momples Road - battled through treacherous weather conditions to complete the gruelling 140-mile journey from Stornaway to Barra in five days.

At one point the trio almost became stranded when choppy seas and gale-force winds threatened to cancel one of several ferries they relied on to move from island to island.

"It wasn't easy cycling through driving wind and rain every day but we kept going and managed to complete our journey on schedule," Graham told the Star.

"Georgie was absolutely fantastic. Despite only being 10 he never complained once and remained determined to finish our task."

The family managed to raise a grand total of £2,250 to buy new equipment for the club. They also helped secure donations of paint and new signage from local firms J&D Paints and Signs Express to give the ageing gym a makeover.

Graham added: "The guys at the boxing club were so grateful for the money we raised. Hopefully it will go some way towards helping them upgrade the equipment the lads use."

Police hunt man for indecent assaults on train

PASSENGERS travelling on a train on the Harlow Town line could hold clues to the identity of a man police want to question in connection with two indecent assaults.

The incidents happened on board the same Cambridge-bound service from Liverpool Street on Wednesday, November 9 between 7.30pm and 8.30pm. Two women were indecently assaulted by a white man aged 30-39. Detective Constable Gerry Hughes, of British Transport Police, said the victims were left traumatised by their ordeal.

"On both occasions the man sat next to or near the victims and, as the journey progressed, assaulted them before making his excuses and moving away," he said.

"Thankfully, the victims were not physically injured but they are traumatised by the experience and are still trying to come to terms with what happened."

The assaults happened within minutes of each other.

Police have released CCTV footage of a man they say believe may have key information in relation to the incident and are appealing to anyone who recognises him - or has information about the incidents - to contact them. "We believe the man boarded the train at Liverpool Street and left the service somewhere between Bishop's Stortford and Cambridge," said DC Hughes.

Anyone with information should call British Transport Police on 0800 405040 quoting crime reference B16/LNA of 18/11/2011.

Relief as Berecroft safety works finish

TOP JOB: MP Robert Halfon and South Anglia Housing managing director Tracy White with residents, local councillors and workers

SAFETY improvement works to scores of homes on the fire-ravaged Berecroft estate have now been completed following months of "unavoidable" delays.

The neighbourhood was the scene of two major fires in recent years and concern over the ease with which flames spread through the shared roofspace of terraced homes prompted housing association South Anglia to agree to replace the roofs of 226 properties.

Unforeseen structural problems delayed the £4m project earlier this year but on Friday contractors Kier Harlow finished work on the final phase.

Tracy White, managing director of South Anglia Housing, told the Star that despite the delays the association had worked hard to ensure the work was completed.

"We have stood by our promise to residents to invest millions upgrading more than 200 roofs in Berecroft and hope the fire safety improvements will mean people feel safe in their homes," she said.

"During the work we had to tackle issues which were more complicated than our independent engineers and surveyors originally anticipated.

"But we worked hard to overcome all obstacles to successfully finish this vast project which has brought long-term safety and a secure future to Berecroft's residents."

boast modern, lightweight steel roofs with firebreak walls. Fascias and soffits have been replaced with upgraded materials requiring less maintenance.

New guttering and downpipes have also been fitted to homes to ensure good drainage.

Resident Ted Thirley, who was part of a nine-strong residents' quality control team set up to scrutinise the work being carried out, described the project's completion as a "relief".

"When we first heard about the re-roofing my wife and I were apprehensive," he said. "But South Anglia and Kier Harlow gave us the chance to see the work at every stage and nothing was too much trouble for them during the project.

"It was such a relief when we got our new roof. Not only is it safer, it also has more storage room."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who backed residents' calls for safety improvement works in May last year and helped set up a steering committee to oversee the project's delivery, added: "This has been a real community effort and residents' input throughout has been dedicated and constructive.

"Berecroft is now a fantastic place to live and the new roofs look beautiful. South Anglia and Kier Harlow have done an excellent job."

Council starts upgrade to stretch of cycle track

WORK started this week on upgrading a stretch of cycle track running through Harlow.

Around 150 metres of track running along Parndon Brook into the Tithelands playing fields is to be re-bedded and repaired, with eight metres of concrete edgings replaced and the path completed with a tarmacadam top layer.

The project is expected to take around two weeks to complete.

Tony Hall, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for the environment, said: "The town has an extensive network of cyclepaths and it is a form of transport the council is always keen to encourage.

"Keeping the cyclepaths up to scratch ensures our residents can ride safely and these repairs keep the Parndon Brook stretch in good shape for future years."

Cllr Hall said the authority was committed to promoting environmentally friendly modes of transport and healthy lifestyles.

"With the London 2012 mountain biking event taking place in Essex, there is no better time to get on your bike and start cycling on Harlow's cycle paths," he added.

Local cycling club Cycle Harlow organises guided bike rides throughout the year and a map of cycle routes can be downloaded from their website at www.cycleharlow.co.uk.

It's time council put a stop to these rumours

SIR, Perhaps it is a new tactic that Harlow Council has now perfected – a variation of a rumour and Chinese whispers – to determine what might happen to its services.

One rumour going the rounds from council sources is that the future of the museum has nearly been decided, but let us see what variations to our intentions come back to us before we put it through the official channels.

What has happened to proper consultation with appropriate organisations that have already expressed an interest in helping? I understand Harlow Civic Society is such a body but to date have not received replies to repeated messages for a meeting.

What is the current situation regarding the discretionary services that were offered to the voluntary and private sectors to take over?

After the launch of the idea which was supposed to be resolved in a matter of weeks, things have gone very quiet but rumours are still circulating. As these services are supposed to be for local people, is it too much to ask as to their future prospects?

The second talking point is regarding the scheme to place solar panels on all of the housing stock owned by the council. This was announced in the council's newsletter some time ago.

The Chinese whisper is that this figure will be nearer 200 properties because Keir, the housing maintenance contractor will not receive the necessary funding from central government after the cutbacks in the subsidies announced very recently.

If this is true, one could ask whether the council really believes in green issues and is willing to make sacrifices or was it just an attempt to win votes? However, I have just joined in the game of intercepting rumours without hard evidence and it would be advisable if the current situation was announced.

Derek Fenny, press officer
Harlow Labour Party

Publish the results

SIR, Harlow 2020's consultation on the sustainable community strategy was to be welcomed (Star, November 17). However, perhaps it would have been better informed if Harlow Council had published the results of last winter's consultation on its Local Development Framework.

The council conducted a 10-week public consultation exercise on the Core Strategy Issues and Options document which ended last January but as yet respondents have seen no results. The matter has still not been allocated for discussion in the Cabinet work plan.

East Herts Council conducted a similar exercise at about the same time and published more than 3,000 responses it received last spring. Even though the planning system is subject to various proposed changes, they then brought a comprehensive paper discussing the results to committee earlier this summer.

This East Herts consultation showed that nearly 90 per cent of respondents were opposed to the concept of Harlow North. Now the Localism Bill has received Royal Assent, the path is clear for the abolition of the Regional Spatial Strategy, removing any requirement for East Herts to include Harlow North in its plans

Why has Harlow Council not published its results more than nine months after the consultation closed? What has it got to hide?

Nigel Clark, Secretary STOP Harlow North
High Street, Hunsdon

privileged to have attended a school with such caring and supportive staff members and pupils.

Being included in some of the events organised by the pupils and staff to help raise the money for Jamie's headstone and the generosity of everyone involved within the school and the wider community makes me very proud to have been a Passmores student and how much everyone cared.

I have a lot of respect for the people who helped Jamie throughout his life and a lot of respect for all of the people who helped raise the money for his headstone, which shows how much he was loved and how his memory will be kept alive by the school as well as his family and friends.

This shows he is always thought about even after nearly two years since he sadly left us. This makes me very proud.

Has she no shame?

SIR, Many of us were surprised that the letter about Lord Hanningfield ('Strip him of his title', November 17) made no reference to the Labour peer Baroness Uddin.

She was found guilty last year by the House of Lords privileges committee of acting in bad faith by claiming £125,349 expenses to which she was not entitled, by far the largest fraudulent claim.

Shamefully, she has made no attempt to repay this sum. Indeed, it is claimed that she intends to use her future claims to repay this sum when she is allowed to return next year. A case of the taxpayer repaying the taxpayer!

So why can't she sell the property for which she was claiming? Is it perhaps because she is attempting to let it out, as suggested in the media?

Perhaps even more insidious in this selfish and self-centred mess is where she is living at the moment. She rents a housing association property in east London, thereby depriving a needy family from a home built at the public expense.

Despite calls from some members of her party to resign, she has failed to do that as well. Has this woman no shame?

The fact that the leader of the Labour Party has taken no action presumably means he condones her actions, which therefore must bring his judgement into question.

Simon Carter
Mark Hall Moors, Harlow

Show teens respect

SIR, Florence Rayment states in her letter that "groups of youngsters, however polite and harmless they are, tend to be intimidating without them realising it" ('Just an observation', November 17).

This could also be applied to adults after the intimidating behaviour I have seen outside Yates and nightclubs which I have to walk past to get to places.

Since I was young I always wanted to be a teenager. I thought it was exciting to be that age but I never knew how much hassle it would be and the amount of people who judge you on a daily basis.

Not many teenagers talk about their views on adults in public so why should adults think they can do it to us? You were our age once; just think if you were this age now, you would hate it!

So respect teenagers in the way you would like to be respected.

I know that many other comments will be made about teenagers, but why?

I'm sure somewhere in every adult's life they have a teenage relative that they love and I'm sure they would never say anything bad about their lifestyle, so why criticise other teenagers?

Emma Bird
Harlow (address supplied)

Racist stereotype

SIR, It is scarcely possible but Jim Pailing has written an even worse letter about travellers ('Travellers' argument flawed', November 10). He attempts to retreat from his outrageous statements in his original letter, only to do it again.

He claims he didn't really mean he thought Dale Farm residents should be evicted because of their way of life, yet he wrote 'any damage to traveller children's education, the health of their disabled, sick and pregnant (by their eviction) should be compared to their lifestyle'.

Worse, in his most recent letter he even more openly reveals his offensive views by implying travellers are lazy, law-breaking and unintelligent. He does so by creating a racist stereotype, using a negative comparison with Jewish people when he writes "any comparison of the Jewish nation with travellers is fraudulent because the Jewish people are extremely industrious, intelligent and law-abiding".

Exposing this crass attitude was, of course, exactly the point of the Guardian test.

He even has the cheek to try to blow his own trumpet about his time on the council, when in fact he was so conspicuously successful as a councillor he was sent off by the electorate with a flea in his ear.

Given the nature of his appalling and ignorant views, one can well understand why.

Paul Topley
Altham Grove, Harlow

Praise for hospital

SIR, I am 76 years of age, and I have just spent a week in Princess Alexandra Hospital. From the moment I was admitted I received the utmost care and consideration from all the staff I came into contact with. They went above the call of duty to ensure I was receiving the care I needed.

The food was excellent; it was of a good variety and well served. It would not have been out of place at the Savoy Hotel.

So do not criticise our hospital staff; they are doing an excellent job.

D. Ascott
Halling Hill, Harlow

Our right to know

SIR, Like so many others in Harlow and the rest of the committee of the Churchgate Residents' Association, I am shocked that Councillor Mike Garnett decided to vote in favour of the construction of the waste transfer station in Templefields.

I have listened to the arguments for opposing the siting of the station. What I have not heard are the reasons Cllr Garnett had for ignoring these arguments.

He has said that the rules are very strict for planning committees when they made their decisions. He also said these rules rendered invalid all the arguments against the construction of the station. However, he gave no indication what these rules might be.

Nor did he explain how they might invalidate the arguments of the opposition for the siting of the station in Templefields.

As an explanation for why he voted the way he did, what he has given us so far is not enough. Perhaps he might consider it his public duty to explain more fully to the people of Harlow and especially to the parents and teachers connected with Tany's Dell School just why he voted in favour. They have a right to know.

First aider Katie wins national award

A QUICK-thinking teenager who took control when an elderly woman started choking in a restaurant has received an award from the Ambulance Institute.

St John's Ambulance cadet Katie Clark (18) was working at the Harlow Mill Beefeater in February this year when she rushed to help a customer who had collapsed after choking on her meal.

Katie, of Wedgewood Drive,

Harlow, cleared the area of bystanders and then administered chest compressions for around 15 minutes until paramedics arrived on the scene and took over.

Sadly, despite the best efforts of doctors and the ambulance crew, the woman later died in intensive care. But her family was so grateful for everything Katie did they invited her to the funeral.

"I think it gave them some comfort to know that everything possible had been done to save her," said Katie. "And we managed to keep her alive long enough so at least they could say goodbye to her."

She was presented with the Voluntary Ambulance Service Person of the Year award by Baroness Browning at a ceremony held at the House of Lords earlier this month.

Ambulance trust takes steps to reduce carbon footprint by one third

THE ambulance trust serving the Star area has become one of just three in the country to pledge to cut its carbon emissions by almost a third.

The East of England Ambulance Service will be working with the Carbon Trust to reduce its carbon footprint by 30 per cent over the next five years.

If it hits its target it will also mean the service will have saved nearly £6.4m which could then be channelled towards patient care.

EEAS has set up an environmental improvement group comprising key managers in relevant departments to implement an a carbon reduction strategy.

Paul Scott, EEAS director of finance, said: "We are proud to be one of the first ambulance services in the country to be working with the Carbon Trust on this very important campaign.

"The environmental improvement group is carrying out research across the EEAS to identify the full range of carbon savings to be made and this has already resulted in the launch of two projects with more in the pipeline."

One of the initiatives – to put computers into 'hibernation' when they have not been used for an hour – is predicted to save hundreds of thousands of pounds by 2016.

Another is to use recycled paper for external and internal use. Staff will also be encouraged to switch off lights and office machinery.

Pet store helps Cubs become animal friends

A PET store has been offering Beaver and Cub Scout groups in Harlow free workshops to help the youngsters gain their animal care badge.

During the sessions at the Pets at Home store in Edinburgh Way the youngsters receive advice from trained in-store advisers on how to care for pets responsibly in order to achieve part of the criteria for the Animal Friend Badge.

Store manager Steve Levitt said: "The free workshops will help them find out all the information they need to achieve some of their badge activity tasks, as well as teaching them how to care for pets responsibly and everything that's involved in looking after pets."

For further information on booking a free workshop call (01279) 413611.

A CONVICTED benefits cheat who continued to claim money to which she was not entitled has been jailed for six months.

Susan Ellis (59), of Spinning Wheel Mead, Harlow, was given a suspended prison sentence in August 2009 for falsely claiming £10,000.

But Chelmsford Crown Court was told on Friday she carried on cheating the system and received a further £2,778.

Judge Christopher Ball told Ellis, who pleaded guilty to the offence: "The system is being cheated of billions of pounds by people like you."

"The people of Harlow have to know it's got to stop. I have to have regard to the public and reassure them cheats are not going to have a soft line."

The court heard that Ellis was given the earlier suspended jail sentence for making false claims of nearly £10,000 for disability payments, housing benefit and council tax.

However, just over three weeks before her suspended sentence ran out her son moved in with her and she failed to inform the authorities of her change in circumstances relating to her entitlement of benefit.

As a result she fraudulently received £2,778.84 from August 7, 2009 to August 12, 2010.

Cyrus Schrof, representing Ellis, said in mitigation: "The offence is borne out of stupidity. She has been foolish in the extreme."

"Her family in court are fearful because of a medical condition and there's concern about her emotional wellbeing."

However, the judge told her that by sending her to jail he was signalling a crackdown on benefits fraud.

Ellis was given four months for breaching the suspended sentence and two months for the latest offence.

SCHOOLS, businesses, organisations and individuals across Harlow turned their hands to a spot of fundraising to support Children in Need.

Youngsters at Jack & Jill's Nursery in Monkswick Road raised more than £60 after pulling on their pyjamas to play Pin the Patch on Pudsey before baking bear-shaped biscuits and having their faces painted.

Manager Kirsty Smith said: "It was the first pyjama day we've had at the nursery and we'll certainly be doing it again. The children loved the games and had a great day of fun and fundraising!"

Staff at the B&Q store in The Oaks Retail Park off Edinburgh Way collected £400 when a giant Pudsey popped in to greet customers on Saturday.

The DIY store also held a raffle and invited shoppers to guess the number of sweets in a jar.

Stock manager Jason Mills said: "We had a fantastic response to our Children In Need fundraising weekend and managed to raise a huge amount of money for the charity."

Children and staff at Holy Cross Pre-school donned spectacularly spotty outfits before filling a handmade Pudsey head with loose change and raffling off a specially baked Pudsey cake, raising a total of £273. Nursery head Anne Tierney said: "The children were helped to understand that lots of children need our help for extra food, new clothes and special equipment. We all had a very fun and happy time!" Staff at the Harlow offices of law firm Attwaters got a slice of the action by selling bacon rolls while wearing wacky headgear in a 'no wig, no fee' fundraiser that raised £140 for the cause.

Attwaters partner Joyti Hensch told the Star: "The day's fun brought in a splendid tally and, contrary to normal practice, we declined to make any claim for costs."

"It's been hilarious but staff have now been bound over to keep the peace for 12 months – until Children in Need next year!"

Youngsters at the Kidz OK nursery in Park Mead helped raise £150 after paying a pound to put on their pyjamas in preparation for a visit from Pudsey. Pre-school owner Deb Newman said: "The little ones all had a great time making masks and playing games and loved meeting Pudsey for a cuddle!"

Toddlers at Gateway Nursery in Perry Road put the fun into fundraising by baking cakes, making masks, decorating a giant Pudsey bear and even throwing wet sponges at nursery manager Emma Rike as she braved the stocks!

The pre-school raised £103 in total. Deputy manager Claire Hudson said: "Both the staff and the children had a fantastic time having fun while raising money for a very worthy cause."

Giant jacket sets new world record

PUPILS at a Manchester school have helped to create something that puts even Joseph's amazing technicolour dreamcoat in the shade - the world's biggest jacket!

The record-breaking 'coat of many colours' has been stitched together by youngsters and parishioners at St George's Church and Primary School in Stockport.

Big enough to cover half a tennis court, the giant jacket is made up of 8,832 knitted squares and weighs as much as two average-sized men.

It was originally made for a production of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, which was performed by parishioners at the St George's Festival this summer.

Work began last autumn as part of a community knitting project. It took 10 people using ropes and pulleys to raise it into position for a display above the church choir.

The coat beat the previous Guinness World Record set by a group in the Ukraine.

The previous record-holder measured 9.9 metres long and 5.4 metres wide and was created by Michael Voronin to celebrate the Ukrainian fashion holiday in Kiev on September 8, 2002.

Now the church has received its world-record certificate, it plans to take the coat apart to make individual blankets which will be sent to deprived families living in Africa.

Happy memories of school outings

THE theme of school trips continues this week after we received this photograph of some Potter Street pupils enjoying their day of educational fun away from the classroom.

The photo was brought in by Joy Murray (pictured centre) who started at the school when it first opened after moving to Harlow when she was seven.

"The school wasn't quite finished when we moved here in 1953 so I started at Tany's Dell and changed shortly after," said Joy.

"I must have been 10 years old in this photo, making the date 1956. However, I can't remember where we were.

"I used to really love school trips and we always seemed to go on a hot and sunny day. Good weather and school outings just went hand in hand."

Joy, who moved from Harlow to Cambridge

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

eight years ago, said she is still in touch with a few of her classmates from her primary school days, particularly one fellow pupil.

"I met my husband, John, at Potter Street," she explained. "I hated him, though; he was horrible! He used to chase me around the playground.

"We've now been married for 43 years!"

Now aged 65 and a grandmother of five, Joy said she had very good memories of her primary school days although she recalls one slight mishap when she first started at Tany's Dell.

"I will always remember a funny story from when I first moved here," she said. "It was my mum's birthday so after school I went to the local shop to buy a card and a present.

"However, when I came out the school coach had left without me! As I was so new to the area I didn't know where I was or, more to the point, where I lived.

"A friend's mum ended up walking me to Old Harlow police station where I had to sit with a police officer for hours until my frantic mother finally got in touch to report me missing!

"To entertain me I remember the policeman showed me a gun which I was very impressed with. And at the end he gave me a shilling for being so well behaved. It was a lot of money in those days.

"Fortunately I think my mum was too relieved to see me to tell me off!"

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Hughenden

A COUPLE of weeks ago we asked Nostalgia readers to help us solve the conundrum of the mysterious Hughenden house.

Staff the Museum of Harlow came across the property on the front page of a 1920s sale catalogue which said it was located five minutes from Harlow Station - now Harlow Mill.

Three people got in touch with the suggestion that the property was a former council halfway house in Old Harlow that no longer exists.

"I may be wrong but the picture looks very much like Faircroft House in Old Harlow," wrote Steve Arkell.

"I lived there for about a year around 1997. It used to be owned by Harlow Council and was a halfway house. I don't know much more than that but if you search for Faircroft House on Google images the two pictures look similar."

Clare Powell said she thought the house used to be next to The Swallows.

"I may be wrong but if not then it has recently been knocked down to make way for new homes," she added.

Chris Farmer agreed with the halfway house theory, but said he had never known the building's name before seeing it featured in Nostalgia.

"The house was, until earlier this year, located on Station Road in Old Harlow, and was known in more recent time as Faircroft," he wrote. "It had been used for many years by the council as a shelter for homeless people in the town or those awaiting council housing.

"The site became empty around 18 months ago, was flattened during the spring and is now being developed for newer housing."

25 years ago in the Star

Police were celebrating week after a man they believe was Harlow's main supplier of amphetamine sulphate was jailed for seven years. Eight people from Harlow were sentenced for drug-related offences at Chelmsford Crown Court in what is believed to be one of the biggest drug operations of recent times.

A fleeing handbag thief panicked and dropped the stolen bag when a Harlow man gave chase near the Harvey Centre. After hearing a woman scream and a man dashing past, the have-a-go hero set off after the offender and was surprised when the thief quickly gave up his hoard.

Training sessions for the first ever "tubeathon" are under way at Harlow Pool. Teams from around the town will ride the tubes as many times as possible in eight hours to raise money for the Save the Children Fund.

A 'Song for Harlow' contest is one of the suggestions from councillors to celebrate Harlow's 40th anniversary next year. A play for Harlow competition, family fun days, a new sculpture and a simultaneous procession from all four corners of the town were also on the list.

First view of crematorium chapel plans

By Star reporter
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ARCHITECTS' drawings of the proposed £750,000 refurbishment of Parndon Wood Crematorium – the first major overhaul of the facility since it was built 50 years ago – were unveiled this week.

The centrepiece of the design is an open chapel with large bay windows overlooking nearby woodland and a stained glass window.

Other measures being put forward include a larger covered area for mourners to gather, a glazed archway and extra parking.

The plans, which are due to be submitted to Harlow Council in the new year, also feature a new hedged garden complete with water feature and a glazed, arched roof forming the centre piece of a new entrance to the chapel.

Additional landscaping will also be carried out around the chapel, floral tribute area and crematorium complex as a whole.

The revamped design is being overseen by Westerleigh, the private operator which took up management of the service from the council on a 25-year lease in July.

The deal will pave the way for investment of £3m over the next 25 years. Other major items of investment include two new cremators and emissions control equipment.

Tony Hall, the council's portfolio holder for the environment, said: "The point of our deal with Westerleigh was to secure new investment for a facility that everyone agreed was in need of updating. Parndon Wood needs to be taken into the 21st century with a variety of improvements that the council simply could not afford to do.

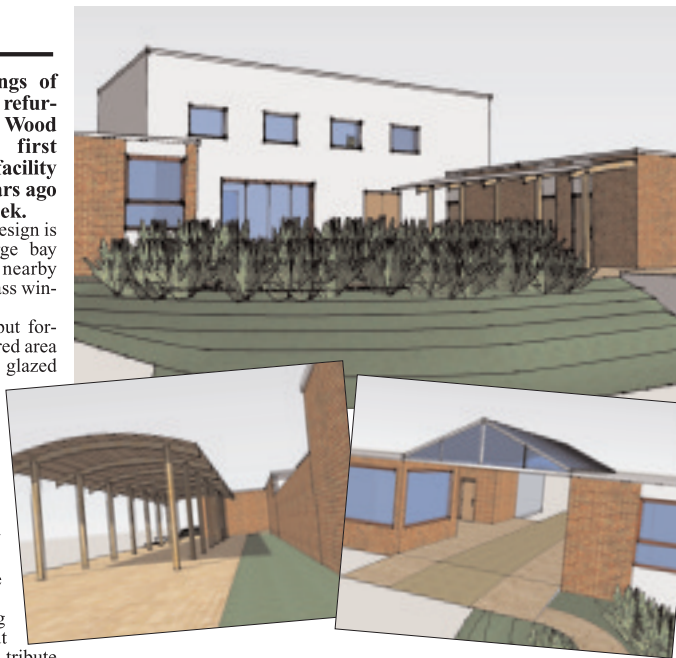

"We are very encouraged by the number of positive comments about the improvements already made to the grounds and graves. These ambitious plans underline what we want to do which is to create a modern, tranquil but dignified environment where people can say farewell to their loved ones."

Tina Griffin, head of the cemetery's friends group, said: "We are delighted that we are being taken seriously and that Westerleigh want to listen to our views. They have already made a difference to the grounds and we believe that they genuinely want to work with us to ensure that the best possible service is provided."

Richard Evans, Westerleigh's managing director, said: "The refurbishment of the chapel is the next stage in a number of improvements we are planning at Parndon Wood.

"The encouraging thing is that our plans our based on what regular visitors, local people and professionals in the funeral industry have told us they want. We believe they will create the right environment for those attending a funeral service and for people who visit graves for years to come."

If the plans are approved, work is due to start on the refurbishment next summer.

Housing redevelopment and your right to compensation

HARLOW Council is redeveloping some housing estates in the town. If you are a secure tenant, an introductory tenant, a leaseholder or a freeholder and you are affected by the redevelopment work, then you may be entitled to compensation.

The Land Compensation Act 1973 and the Housing Act 1985 (Part II section 26) set out entitlements to home loss payments and disturbance allowance.

For secure tenants and introductory tenants there is a requirement that you must have lived in your property for at least 12 months. At present, central Government has set the payment at £4,700 for each household as a home loss payment.

For leaseholders and freeholders whose properties are part of the redevelopment, the council will purchase the properties at the market rate. If there is a dispute about the value, then such disputes can be referred to the Upper Tribunal (Lands Chamber) in London.

In addition to selling the property at the market value, leaseholders and freeholders who are in occupation of their property as their only or main residence and who have lived in their property for a year immediately prior to the council redevelopment of their area will also be entitled to home loss payment equal to 10 per cent of the market value of the property. The

Information from Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice

Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice provides specialist advice and tribunal and court representation on matters involving benefits, housing, employment and debt. Information on a range of other subjects is also available. Appointments can be made to see specialist advisers and solicitors. Contact the service on (01279) 446622 or by calling in at the Advice Centre, 2 East Gate, The High, between 10am and 1.30pm on weekdays. Out-of-hours appointments and home visits are available if necessary.

maximum amount of home loss payment in such circumstances is £47,000.

The disturbance allowance is intended to compensate the tenant and/or occupier for the costs they have incurred by their displacement and the amount payable shall be equal to reasonable expenses. All tenants, leaseholders and freeholders are entitled to this payment if they have been compulsorily displaced from their home, they have been in lawful possession and their move is permanent. The requirement that they must have lived in their property for at least 12 months also applies.

Tenants who lost their property due to redevelopment by the council are entitled to be re-housed by the council. Leaseholders and freeholders are expected to buy another property to resolve their re-housing problems.

This article summarises the legal entitlements. Contact Harlow Council for details of policy decisions taken relating to the redevelopment areas.

WILLIAM MARTIN Budding young artists have brightened up the stairwells of their school with paintings highlighting their ideals for next year's Olympic and Paralympic Games.

As part of an ongoing Olympics 2012 arts project, children in the lower Key Stage 2 classes were asked to make patchwork designs with oil pastels interpreting one of four titles: The Olympics 2012, Respect, Excellence and Friendship.

Headteacher Janet Matthews explained: "The first canvas entitled Olympics 2012 is of events and scenes the children believe they will see next year, while canvas two highlights the ideal of respect and how we care for ourselves and our environment."

"The third canvas, Excellence, depicts how we try to do our best at all things at all times and the last, Friendship, highlights how we all can begin to understand each other despite our differences."

She added: "We are very proud of all our children's hard work, they have done an absolutely fantastic job." (photo: HAR0782517)

STEWARDS Silence fell over the Parnall Road school when more than 1,300 children and adults joined together to remember the sacrifice of those who laid down their lives for their country.

Representatives of local businesses and groups in the community, along with members of the emergency services and 20 Second World War veterans were invited to join pupils and staff for the biggest Remembrance Day ceremony the school has ever held.

Assistant headteacher Marie Erwood said it had been one of the highlights of her 37-year teaching career. "It was absolutely incredible and I am so proud of how well all our students conducted themselves," she said. "Despite the cold drizzle, every member of the school community stood in absolute silence for 25 minutes with the utmost respect. It was really overwhelming and many of the veterans said it was the one of the best services they had ever attended."

HOLY CROSS Pupils have been on an African adventure after taking part in a host of activities as part of the Tracey's Road school's Black History Week celebrations.

During the week-long event the children were taught about key figures and events in African history and got to try out their hand at traditional drumming, singing and dancing.

The students were also shown how to cook traditional African food, holding a big feast to taste their dishes together whilst listening to folk tales from the continent.

"All of the children had a wonderful time," said teacher Emma Beckwith.

"This was an opportunity for us to explore notable achievements, key figures and significant events for Africans and the Diaspora [the displaced]," she said.

"It has also encouraged us all to celebrate our diversity and appreciate the contribution we have all made to society."

Your stars with Patrick Arundell

to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
You realize that a life really is a broad canvas, and that you don't just have to accept your fate as it is now. A greater sense of empowerment will come from spreading your wings, and pursuing a more adventurous approach. This is you at your best. Playing things safely first, sees you only at half power. Call your special prediction line for more advice...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
Taurus is ruled by Venus, the planet of good taste, and the Earth Element, so it's a rare Taurus that does not appreciate the fine things in life. Now that appreciation is turned up to an even greater extent. This can see you exude a very sensual vibe, do wonders for your love life, and see you make the first move. Call me for your love scope in full...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
If you need to find a new mortgage, act as a negotiator in your work, or deal with the public direct, you will have a real talent for understanding what other people want and responding to it. In love, Mars' angle to Pluto, can give you the urge to find your perfect partner, or settle down with the one you have. Call now for your love scope in full...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
A meeting of minds can lead to contract success. Control can often be an issue with Cancer folk, but now you can see there is much to be gained from helping someone, and your support and knowledge can be critical. Passions can also run high and you may park your reserved side and show you've a hidden hot streak. Call for more astral advice...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
Don't feel that you have to save anyone from themselves. Your generosity can be awesome, but know when to stand back. With the Sun forging a new path in your sector of delights, you can however soak up all the seasonal excitement and be a main player in any pre-Festive mirth. Enjoy letting your hair down Leo! Call for more astral advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Home is where your heart is, or is it? Perhaps nearer the truth is that you simply need to be comfortable wherever you spend the majority of your time. You can mull over a lot this week Virgo, but another side of you might show that you are up for quite out of character, and that can give you an enormous buzz! Call for your in-depth forecast...

Pirate adventure with plenty of 'yo ho ho'

THIS rollicking, rip-roaring production literally started with a bang as the booming sound of a ship's cannon reverberated around the hall.

Then we were off on a voyage of thrills and spills as a gang of gold-thirsty pirates and a group of money-grubbing aristocrats pitted their wits against one another in a desperate hunt for treasure.

Paul Regeli's witty and engaging script gave a nod to both Robert Louis Stevenson's classic novel Treasure Island and Hollywood's hugely popular Pirates of the Caribbean series. But it also contained original flair and imagination, with dialogue colourfully peppered with slang and nautical terms in common use in the 18th century.

Under the steady direction of Rosemary Caswell – who also supplied the magnificent costumes – the action begins as pirate chief Long Jake Bones

Review

Avarst Behind Moot House Players, Moot Hall

(John Childs) plots the hunt over a ragged treasure map with his motley crew (Henrietta Branwell, Anthony Edwards and Robbie Chittick).

En route they press-gang lispng rich boy Frederick Creeper (Dan Powell), who's in love with feisty inn keeper's daughter Millie (Kerry Rowland). It so happens that Freddie's parents Lord Creeper and Lady Virginia Creeper (Alan and Angela Hodgson) and sister Gwendolyn (Janine Gosnell) have also got wind of the treasure map, as have local justice Mr Darling (Michael Rees) and his wife Clarissa (Jennifer Southwell).

They also sail off in pursuit of the treasure while bold Millie disguises herself as a lad and gets a job as cabin boy on board the pirate ship so she can be close to her beloved Freddie.

There are plenty of villains in this production but no heroes. The only man to show any bravery is the cabin boy . . . and he turns out to be a girl!

The antics of the pirates – and their colourful language – had the audience in fits of laughter, particularly Robbie Chittick's scrofulous, greedy Nobby who manages to eat both the treasure map and the treasure. The scene where he dresses as a 'lady' to try to entice Freddie was hilarious.

A special mention must also go to Geoff Leeds, who took on three roles and was very funny in all of them, particularly as castaway Ebenezer.

This was a thoroughly entertaining voyage of discovery. My one complaint: where was Johnny Depp? I would have loved to have seen him on stage at Moot Hall!

Piano man Keith and sounds of the silents

By CHRIS MOSS

MUSIC and film fans can enjoy a finely-tuned synthesis of jazz and silent film at St John's ARC tonight (Thursday) as piano virtuoso Keith Nichols returns to the venue.

The BBC Jazz Heritage Award winner will provide the musical backdrop to classic films featuring Buster Keaton, Charlie Chaplin and Laurel & Hardy during a largely improvised set embracing classic ragtime, jazz, boogie-woogie and swing.

A former child prodigy who became Great Britain Junior Champion on the piano accordion in 1960, Keith also plays the trombone, soprano saxophone and vibraphone as well as being a talented arranger.

In 1976, he was invited by Bing Crosby to record one of the crooner's final albums, Feels Good, Feels Right, and the following year led the highly acclaimed Midnite Follies Orchestra.

He also performed at Carnegie

Hall with the New Paul Whiteman Orchestra in the late 1970s

Considered one of the world's foremost authorities on classic jazz and ragtime, his achievements in promoting the early jazz styles were acknowledged by the BBC's Jazz Heritage Award in 2004.

John Petters, the man behind the ARC's regular monthly jazz gigs, told the Star: "Keith is a superbly talented pianist and we're looking forward to another outstanding evening of music.

"Ragtime and jazz developed in parallel with the silent cinema and Keith is believed to be the only jazz performer to regularly provide the musical backdrop for these classic comedy masterpieces."

The performance starts at 8pm and admission costs £10. Tickets can be purchased on the door or from 0800 496 0673.

Most estate agents see their role solely as a "purveyor of buyers", and they understandably pride themselves on their ability to find the right buyer for a property and to negotiate attractive terms for the seller.

But estate agency has moved on. Indeed, finding a buyer is arguably one of the most straightforward aspects of selling a property. Wise sellers now seek other attributes in their estate agent.

We all know how emotionally traumatic a house move can be. Yet many agents fail to recognise their ability to reduce this overall burden by becoming thoroughly involved not only in the actual sale of an individual property, but also in the move as a whole. We feel this provides a great opportunity for the service-focused agent to deliver a level of customer service that really makes a difference. A service based on empathy. In other words, "seeing the world through the eyes of the buyer/seller". With this vision, agents can then anticipate and proactively respond to the very real needs of the house-moving public.

An example of an obvious contribution that agents can make is a hands-on approach to any related property transactions, rather than blaming solicitors for any delay. A chain is only as strong as the weakest link, yet many agents sit back and wait once a sale is agreed. Madness!

So if you are to make your move enjoyable rather than simply endurable, choose an agent who believes passionately in supportive customer service. Choose Geoffrey Matthew Estates.

Our 12 dream toys for Christmas

Why shop out of town when so much is going on locally?

Christmas gifts for him and her

Observer

MERCURY

Star

WITH the Eurozone crisis appearing to dominate the headlines of late, what better way to put the smiles back on everyone's faces than to realise that we're just a month away from Christmas?

And there are so many things going on locally this year that there really is no need to go to the expense of a trip to London or the hassle of battling the crowds in overcrowded out-of-town shopping centres. Everything you want is on your doorstep - from party outfits and fabulous gift ideas to delicious festive fare. It's right here, in your local area.

From Bishop's Stortford to Broxbourne, Harlow to Hertford, Sawbridgeworth to Stansted and everywhere in between, you can choose from a wide variety of excellent independent stores and bigger High Street names.

Window displays are already enticing and the festive lights are twinkling as the spirit of Christmas weaves its magic.

This Christmas supplement is there to give you a head start on shopping, events and preparation for the big day itself.

Take time to read our ideas on gifts for men and women, the top 10 toys for the kids, how to control your weight while the temptations are all around you and how to take some of the stress out of your life on the run-up to the big day.

As in previous years, we feature a wonderful selection of local pantomimes for you to enjoy, with something for all the family, and there is a round-up of local festive events on the run-up to December 25.

Enjoy - and Happy Christmas!

Ideas, events, pantomimes - all in this special supplement

Shining a light on lives of loved ones

THE two hospices in our area are holding special ceremonies this Christmas where you can remember loved ones who will not be with us this year.

During the Lights of Love events for Welwyn Garden City-based Isabel Hospice, there will be a short service of remembrance, carol singing and a countdown to the lighting of the tree.

You will also be able to take home a small star to keep and hang on your own Christmas tree. Names will be entered for each ceremony in a Book of Love, which can be viewed before, or immediately after the service. The Book of Love will then be on display until January at the nearest hospice shop to the ceremony.

Two of the ceremonies took place on Saturday, at the hospice headquarters in Welwyn Garden City and at the Van Hage garden centre in Great Amwell.

St Clare Hospice in Hastingwood, near Harlow, is also inviting you to remember the life of your loved ones this Christmas with its Light up a Life events. Come together with your friends and family to remember and celebrate the life of someone close to you and dedicate a light in their memory.

Hundreds of lights will shine out to Light up a Life for someone special to you and lights will be hung on the trees and in the grounds at each event as a symbol of remembrance for your loved ones.

The events are taking place across the community and give you a very special opportunity to reflect and share fond memories of your loved ones at this poignant time of year. The events are open to everyone; you do not have to have experienced hospice care.

LIGHTING UP LIVES: Crowds gather for last year's Lights of Love ceremony in Bishop's Stortford

Situated on the

FINISHING TOUCH: The star on top of the Christmas tree should be the last thing on it - not the first

Throwing a little light on how to ensure you make your tree a star

Christmas trees

AFTER carefully inspecting the various shapes and sizes of Christmas trees on offer, you've chosen the one you want and have even managed to fit it in the car! Now all that's left is the fun bit - the decoration. Or is it?

Actually setting up your tree, lighting it, keeping it fresh and decorating can take hours if you want it to look good, so don't rush into it. Follow these simple tips and you can ensure your tree looks great throughout the festive season.

Keep your tree fresh and green

Cut the stump of the tree with a fresh cut and place it in water as soon as you get it home. A fresh-cut tree will absorb a great deal of water at first so it's important to check and refill the water level regularly. Be sure to place your Christmas tree in a stand that has a large water reservoir and keep it filled.

Lights and decorations

When decorating your Christmas tree put the lights on first, then any garlands, then the ornaments. By putting the lights on first it will not only give you a clearer idea of shape but avoids knocking off any ornaments. Don't skimp on the lights either. You'll almost always need more than you think so make sure they're all working and in good order before you start.

Work from the inside out

Start arranging Christmas tree lights on the branches near the base and middle of the tree. Weave strings of lights along the branches inside, and then move to the outer edges of the branches. This will ensure your tree is lit to its depth rather than just on the outside edges.

Ornaments

Don't hang all of your ornament on the tips of the branches. Place ornaments and other decorations 'inside' your tree to add depth and interest.

Filling the space available

Start by arranging the 'filler' ornaments evenly spaced around the tree. This might include basic solid colour balls that are widely available fairly cheaply in a wide range of colours to co-ordinate and enhance your decorating scheme. You'll need about 20 fillers for every two feet of Christmas tree.

Special, themed and collectible ornaments

Leave your best until last! Mix your one-of-a-kind special ornaments between the basic fillers. If you can, use at least 10 special themed ornaments for every two feet of tree. As your collection grows, put the special ornaments closer together.

Making a Bond at your party - with a classic cocktail

Christmas cocktails

THANKS to the re-imagining of classic recipes, cocktails are currently experiencing a renaissance and nothing gets a Christmas party off to a start like a cocktail.

Synonymous with celebrations and entertaining, cocktails conjure up images of the exuberance of the jazz age and the sophistication of James Bond.

Their diversity and endless capacity for reinvention and evolution means there's always something to suit everyone. A cocktail can mean anything from a classic martini, warming winter toddy, or, increasingly, a non-alcoholic mocktail.

Before you start, a good cocktail shaker is essential. Always shake until very cold and keep a firm grip on the lid.

An ice crusher is another great idea so you can chill glasses as well as ingredients, and a jigger will make sure you get perfect measures.

Cocktails can be as classic or as adventurous as you choose, but here are just a few recipes to get you started.

Christmas Sunset

3 shots gin; 1 shot dry vermouth; 1 shot

CHEERS: Some cocktail favourites and, above, right, the Cranberry Kick lemon juice; 1 shot orange juice; 1/2 shot grenadine

A pink, tart, fruity martini. Simply shake with ice and strain into a glass.

Snowball

1 shot advocaat; 1 shot lemonade; 1 shot lime juice

Mix ingredients in a blender and pour into a glass

Black Santa

1 shot coffee liqueur; 1/2 shot Schnapps, peppermint; 1 shot vodka

Pour the vodka and Kahlua coffee liqueur into an old-fashioned glass half-filled with ice cubes. Add the peppermint schnapps and serve.

Cranberry Kick

1 shot vodka; 1 shot cranberry liqueur (De Kuyper is a good one); dash of lime juice; cranberry juice

Half fill a highball glass with cubed ice. Pour in one shot of cranberry liqueur and one shot of vodka. Top with cranberry juice. Stir the ingredients together. Add a squeeze of lime juice and garnish with a slice of lime.

Christmas Pudding

1 part Drambuie; 5 parts stout (Guinness); 1 part Southern Comfort

Combine ingredients in a red wine glass

Festive Orange Fruity

5 fluid oz orange juice; 5 fluid oz tonic water or lemonade; orange slice

Mix all ingredients in a cocktail shaker/stirrer and pour into an unusually shaped glass. Add crushed ice and decorations to create a great speciality drink without alcohol.

SHOP 'TIL YOU DROP: If you go about Christmas shopping as a way to lose physical pounds as well as paper ones, the challenge becomes slightly more rewarding

Exercise a little Christmas spirit

WHILE we all like to sparkle over the Christmas period, sometimes we can end up looking more like Santa, than the fairy on top of the tree. Instead of allowing the Christmas television schedule to control your waistline, think about active ways to revel in the festive season, which aren't entirely chocolate-based.

Clean up your act

Before the hordes of family and friends descend on your home, it's worth thinking about how you can make the cleaning more than just a seasonal chore. Use the blitz on your home as a way to burn lots of calories.

■ Hoovering for an hour can burn 194 calories. Lunge while you Hoover and mop to tone up your legs and bum. Even a little light dusting will take off 174 calories.

■ Mopping is great way to keep fit, burning 194 calories an hour, and ironing will shave off a further 113 calories. If you play music while you clean, you'll work harder and it'll get you into the festive mood.

■ A great way to lose weight is by cleaning your windows, which will help you lose 118 calories. Plan the cleaning mission so you have to use the stairs as much as possible. An hour of traipsing up and down will burn a whopping 516 calories.

■ While you're tidying up, put the remote somewhere hard to reach and keep it there, so you'll have to get up off the sofa to change the channel over Christmas.

Active ways to that aren't just

Shop your way into shape

You might think doing the Christmas shopping is an inhumane exercise, fraught with tension, sharp elbows and levels of spending which only Victoria Beckham can justify. But if you think about it as a way to lose physical pounds, as well as paper ones, then the challenge becomes slightly more rewarding.

It's true there are few tasks more stressful than trudging up and down the high street looking for Christmas gifts. But the rare plus point is that leaving the car (and heels) at home, and donning your trainers instead, can bring waist-whittling rewards.

■ At a moderate walking pace you can burn around 287 calories - and that's without counting the workout you'll give your arms as you haul those bags up and down the high street.

■ Look for chances to workout even harder, such as treating the crowds as a slalom course instead! Whip in and out of the shoppers and give yourself a full body workout.

■ Don't be tempted to take any shortcuts while on the move. Avoid the lifts and walk up and down the escalators remembering that every calorie counts.

- Use as much of your body as you can when you walk and be conscious of your muscles. Walk tall, with your shoulders back, abdomen tight and buttocks clenched.

■ After the shop, bring in the carrier bags one or two at a time rather than trying to balance the whole lot in one go. You'll burn more calories going back and forth.

Trim as the tree

Definitely one of the most enjoyable activities of the festive season.

revel in festive season based on chocolate

WEIGHTY PROBLEM: Getting on the scales after Christmas can be painful, left, kneading dough, above, can tone the arms, but gorging on chocolate, right, will pile on the pounds and hang big garlands, cards and lights from every surface. If find yourself not needing a ladder, or to crouch down low, you're just not being festive enough!

Cooking up a storm

When you're concocting a menu which will probably come in around the billion calorie mark, slip in a few exercises while slaving at the hot stove.

Even chopping the veg can burn calories. Make sure you squat down to grab saucepans, stretch up to cupboard for ingredients and alternate your hands when whisking and stirring to give your arms a full workout.

■ Treat your time at the hob like your very own steam room and wear an extra layer. Sweating is a great way to release toxins from the body - although this look is not recommended for when you're welcoming guests!

■ Make sure you replace any lost fluids by drinking lots (and that doesn't include mulled wine). You should aim for eight glasses of water a day, even when it's cold outside, to ensure glowing skin.

■ Impress friends and family with your toned arms by making your own bread. Kneading dough is very hard work and you'll also win applause for your culinary skills.

decorating your tree is a great time to start your Christmas workout.

The work starts when you haul your tree home from the local garden centre, or climb up to the attic to grab the pretend one you've had forever.

■ Just 30 minutes of climbing stairs or ladders amounts to around 294 calories burned.

■ Go for the stretch when dangling those lights, tinsel and baubles to tone your back and upper arm muscles.

■ Make life difficult for yourself and instead of having someone pass the decorations up to you, keep climbing up and down the ladder to hang those baubles, or head back and forth to the dining table where they're all laid out.

■ If it's all seeming a little bit too easy, go for broke and invent a reason to stay on your toes. Don't resort to small decorative statements, go for the burn

SWEEP AWAY THE POUNDS: Hoovering for an hour can burn 194 calories - and if you lunge while you're doing it you'll tone up your legs and bum

Festive markets across Europe

IN search of treats and trinkets, Sarah Marshall rounds up the best Christmas markets in Europe.

Prague, Czech Republic

Cynics may scoff at the idea of a place being 'magical', but that's probably because they haven't paid a visit to Prague.

With its Gothic cathedrals, cobblestone streets and colourful townhouses, this fairytale capital of the Czech Republic provides the postcard-perfect setting for a Christmas market.

There are several markets in the city, notably in Wenceslas Square and Namesti Republiky, but the most famous - and beautiful - stalls can be found in the Old Town Square. This is definitely the place to go for an authentic festive fix.

Market know-how:

■ When: November 26 to January 8 2012.

Spread your wings for a true European Christmas

■ Getting there: Easyjet fly from London and Bristol to Prague, from £53 return in December (including taxes). Visit www.easyjet.com.

Copenhagen, Denmark

Those who fear the Christmas spirit may have been buried beneath a pile of tinsel and till receipts, might want to consider a trip to Copenhagen.

While there are plenty of opportunities to go shopping, the city has much more to offer than consumer pursuits.

Market know-how:

Gothenburg, Sweden

Days may be short and dark during winter, but Sweden's second city still manages to celebrate the festive season with an impressive light display.

From the middle of this month, a 1.9-mile (3km) Lane of Light is running through the city, stretching from the harbour to the Liseberg Amusement Park, home to Scandinavia's biggest Christmas market.

Amid an epic display of 700 Christmas trees and five million dazzling lights, 80 rustic stalls will be selling traditional arts and crafts along with modern design-led pieces.

Market know-how:

costs 90 SEK (£8). Visit www.goteborg.com.

Black Forest, Germany

German cities are famous for their Christmas markets, but for an alternative setting, shoppers should explore the Black Forest.

A traditional market will be held along the cobbled streets of Freiburg, with stalls selling Gluhwein, chestnuts, wooden cuckoo clocks and hand puppets, but more esoteric events are planned for towns and villages in the surrounding area.

In the medieval town of Gengenbach, a 200-year-old town hall will be transformed into a giant advent calendar, with a new window opened each day.

Market know-how:

■ Getting there: Easyjet fly from Edinburgh and London to Basel-Mulhouse-Freiburg from £36 return in December. Visit www.easyjet.com.

Edinburgh, Scotland

If a trip abroad is out of the question, there is still a number of decent markets around the UK.

Edinburgh's annual festive affair has been going from strength to strength, blending continental traditions with local foods and crafts. This year, the market will be divided into several themed areas: German, Highland, Ethical and Farmer.

Stallholders from Frankfurt will be selling traditional sausages and warming mulled wine, while Scottish produce, such as speciality game and meats, chutneys and breads, can be found in the Farmers' Market and Highland Village.

Those thinking of going green this year could make a one-stop visit to the Ethical Fair, open from December 12 to 20. Gift ideas include eco-friendly gadgets and Fairtrade chocolates.

A winter wonderland with ice rinks and a funfair will keep kids entertained, too.

Christmas events in our towns

WHO needs to sit poring over the Internet or battle against large crowds in mammoth out of town shopping centres, when across the Herts & Essex Newspapers area, local traders have Christmas all wrapped up with a fabulous selection of shops providing all of your festive gifts?

Local businesses are hosting all kinds of events to keep the Christmas spirit alive and show shoppers it really does pay to shop local!

Bishop's Stortford's Shopping Festival

BISHOP'S Stortford has a fabulous shopping festival on Sunday December 4, with a number of stores, cafes and salons joining in the fun.

As well as performances by the Herts and Soul community choir, there will be roaming visits by Santa Claus to various venues throughout the day. Live music, children's entertainment and a treasure hunt will ensure the Christmas spirit is well and truly in town, while characters from Rhodes' upcoming pantomime Robin Hood and the Babes in the Wood will be on hand to delight youngsters.

Snacks and nibbles will be available across the town and every firm taking part will be decked out in a glittering array of winter decorations. Prizes will be awarded for the best window displays.

Why shop out of town - when all this is going on?

In Bridge Street, Coopers of Stortford will host a variety of fun-filled games including a Christmas cracker design competition, a "Pet Factor" show and a dance contest. There'll be a Santa's grotto at Host in Market Square and face-painting and champagne at shoe shops Bambini and Rondzi - and for those looking for a little respite from the shopping, there'll be a chill-out zone with wine, hot chocolate and pampering at Water Lane neighbours The Lemon Tree and Eden Hair.

Karen's Cakes in Northgate End is hosting cake demonstrations, while an array of festive goodies will be up for grabs at Ce' The Jeweller, Photosound, Zellej and Nockolds.

Ware Dickensian Evening

WARE is all set to step back in time once again for its annual Dickensian Evening on Friday December 2.

The Dickensian Evening 2011 promises to be the biggest and best event to date and, as last year, roads in the town centre will be closed and traffic diversions in place. Last year more than 10,000 people attended and that number is expected to be higher this year.

"It will again be a fantastic evening," says Jan Wing, chairman of the Ware Town Centre Partnership. "We expect more people than last year and we shall be making a special effort to make Baldock Street an integral part of the event. Funfairs and a rally of classic cars are being planned there."

Amwell End will be closed from 5.30pm to allow stallholders and the funfair time to set up. High Street, Baldock Street, Church Street, East Street and West Street will be closed from 6pm until 10 pm. Many of the town's shops will be open for the evening and there will be entertainment of all types and children's roundabouts in Tudor Square, High Street and Amwell End, as well as six indoor venues.

The main celebrations begin at 7pm when the mayor, Cllr Alan Warman, hailed by the Ware Town Crier, turns on the lights on the mighty horse-chestnut in Tudor Square to the accompaniment of carols. The town's charities and clubs have booked stalls in Tudor Square, where Christmas music will be playing throughout the evening.

Other bands in the town will be Bill Freeman's Jazz Band from Hoddesdon. There will be a traditional barrel organ outside Tesco in West Street.

There will be craft markets in Place House, Bluecoat Yard and the Drill Hall, and a Hertfordshire country market of produce and food in the Priory. There will be produce stalls and refreshments in St. Mary's Church and the traditional Christmas tree festival in Leaside Church.

Two competitions will mark the evening. People dressing in Dickensian garb - or even just the odd Victorian top hat or bonnet - can compete for prizes. This year the judges will be available in Tudor Square with digital cameras to ensure everyone has an equal chance at the prizes.

Most shops will have entered the window-dressing, to be judged by design students from Hertford Regional College. As part of their certificate course, students from the college have also designed posters and the programme for the evening.

Hertford Christmas Gala

HERTFORD'S annual Christmas Gala on Friday November 25 promises an evening of seasonal fun and entertainment for everyone.

Organised by Hertford Town Council in the town centre, the event takes place between 4pm and 7pm and will include a festive market, late night shopping, the switching on of the Christmas lights and music from local radio station Jack FM.

Jack FM presenter Janine Jones and Jack's Girls will be in Salisbury Square from 4pm and local school bands, choirs and performers from Top Hat Stage School will be on hand to ensure everyone enters into the festive spirit.

Characters from Hertford Theatre's two pantomimes will be performing in Salisbury Square and, once again, Santa will be in the White Hart to discover what will be top of children's Christmas lists this year.

Many shops in Hertford Town Centre will be open late and Market Place will play host to a Festive Food and Craft street market in Market Place.

Mayor of Hertford Cllr Sally Newton and Mercury editor Gary Matthews will be presenting the trophy to the winner of the Mercury-sponsored Hertford Cheerful Trader competition, and a hamper sponsored by Co-op Funeralcare will be presented to the winner of the shops' 'Winning Windows' competition.

The Christmas Lights will be switched on at 5pm by the mayor and characters from both Hertford pantomimes, Aladdin and Robin Hood.

Chairman of Hertford Town Council's development and leisure committee, Cllr Jane Sartin, said: "The gala should get local people and visitors into the festive mood at the most important time of the year for many town centre businesses."

"Hertford has a lot to offer - individual and specialist shops, history and award-winning food and drink outlets. I hope people will look to the town for their Christmas shopping needs this year."

Harlow Christmas lights switch-on

THE cast of Harlow Playhouse's pantomime, Peter Pan, were the stars of the show at Harlow's annual Christmas lights switch on event on Saturday November 12, which marked the start of Christmas shopping in Harlow town centre.

There's a baddie wanting boos, goodies with reels of outrageous gags and a beautiful heroine in a tragic situation. But what has happened to the handsome prince and will the last petal fall before the day can be saved or will the evil witch get her malevolent way?

Starring Bernie Nolan and Leanne Jones from Hairspray, the Gordon Craig Theatre's much anticipated pantomime Beauty and the Beast is a classic tale told in true panto style. Stunning sets, slick choreography, sensational costumes and spectacular musical numbers ensure a show not to be missed.

The production runs from November 26-January 22. For details visit www.stevenage-leisure.co.uk or call the box office on (01438) 363200.

Home-made Christmas

IT'S not only the current economic climate that is causing many of us to slow down the spending this Christmas.

The excessive consumerism can get in the way of what Christmas is really about. But there are other ways to celebrate the festive season and give gifts that might not cost a great deal but will be appreciated.

Time is often a bigger gift than money and taking the time to make something yourself will be treasured forever. How about a hand-made recipe book? You could compile a selection of old recipes from your family and friends and put them together in a notebook or folder which you could also decorate.

No need to go over the top to be appreciated

A personalised calendar is a gift that will be remembered for at least a year! You can buy calendar blanks or use a template from a program; add pictures of things or people meaningful to the recipient; add in important dates such as birthdays and anniversaries of family and friend and maybe a special note or quote every once in a while.

For parents or students you can add in the school schedule, for homeowners you can add in a home maintenance schedule, for sports fans, all relevant up and coming dates of significance (London 2012 for example!)

To make the calendars extra special you could even add little treats such as a coupon for free babysitting on a weekend, a promise to do a basket of ironing on a birthday or two hours' worth of weeding in the garden. The possibilities are endless!

Food gifts always go down well and you can make scrumptious, thrifty Christmas gifts for friends and family very reasonably. Presented well, they will be hard to beat. Traditional gifts such as sweet treats and preserves are a good idea but don't be afraid to branch out a little and try something unusual such as flavoured vodka for the adults or edible tree baubles.

Cranberry vodka

The cranberries give this vodka a brilliant ruby colour that looks so Christmassy. It needs two weeks before it can be bottled, and three to four weeks before it can be drunk and will keep in the freezer almost indefinitely.

Ingredients: 250g fresh or frozen cranberries; pared zest of 2 oranges; 175-200g caster sugar, to taste; 1 litre unbranded vodka

Method: Put the cranberries into a shallow dish and stab them with a fork, but don't reduce to a mush. Put them into two sterilised, wide-necked jars with lids, with the strips of orange zest and the sugar. Pour over the vodka, seal and leave somewhere dark for two weeks, shaking the jar now and then (about once a week), until the sugar has dissolved. Strain the liquid through a muslin-lined sieve into a jug, decant into sterilised bottles, seal and label.

Decorate the bottles with a ribbon, some wrapping ties or a Christmas decoration.

Nutty panforte

These are very easy but look so impressive and are perfect to give as presents or take to a Christmas party.

Ingredients: Rice paper for lining and wrapping; 200g blanched almonds, toasted; 200g skinned hazelnuts, toasted; 100g pecans; 100g pistachios, shelled; 200g dried cranberries; 175g plain flour; 2 tsp ground cinnamon; 1/2 tsp grated nutmeg; 200g icing sugar; 200g clear honey

Method: Preheat the oven to 160°C/fan140°C/gas 3. Line the base of a 15cm square tin with rice paper. In a large bowl, combine all the nuts and the cranberries. Add the flour and spices and mix well. Put the sugar and honey in a large saucepan over a low heat and dissolve slowly. Continue cooking until it turns a light caramel colour. Pour over the nut and flour mixture and mix very well. (Don't worry if the mixture is very thick; be patient - it will come together.)

Spoon the mixture into the tin and press down well to make sure it is level, then bake for 25 to 30 minutes. Leave to cool slightly, then turn out on a wire rack and leave until cold. Cut into slices.

To assemble your gift: arrange the panforte slices in a box layered with sheets of rice paper. It will keep for up to two weeks.

'Gifts that might not cost a fortune will be loved forever'

Watch the colour as you try to impress in that sparkly dress

CHRISTMAS is just around the corner and parties are about to start. How do you ensure you stand out and look your best while still dressing appropriately?

The festive season is a great time to look gorgeous and to pull out once more one of the fabulous dresses you might have bought last year in the sales and which are still hanging in your wardrobe... or to buy a new one.

We Brits really love dressing up for the Christmas parties. Gorgeous dresses for ladies and smart casual for men are usually the norm for the annual office bash unless otherwise specified.

If you want to be glamorous you can wear glamorous fabrics such as silk, satin or cashmere but the safest bet remains the little black dress. But make no mistake, you're bound to be amongst many other LBDs so pick your accessories carefully and make that dress your own!

A silk dress with some gold accessories and stilettos will always look perfect and classy. The length of the dress doesn't really matter that much but perhaps opt for opaque tights if it is on the short side.

Much has been made of the new ranges of coloured and patterned tights and leggings on the catwalk but be warned: these are not the easiest things to pull off unless you are a nimble limbed 16-year-old so approach with caution. Other dark shades such as plum or midnight blue will add a little interest to a black outfit.

With hit TV shows such as Strictly Come Dancing and The X Factor, shiny, sparkly dresses have never been so popular. A party is a time to take a few risks and get noticed, so get out there and enjoy your night! Locally we are spoiled for choice when it comes to party clothes.

From small boutiques to large department stores, we can take our pick from a wide range available. Whether you've got your mind set on a sequined shift, a prom dress, or the ubiquitous little black dress, there will be something for you.

CHRISTMAS is a time of celebration and sharing quality time with family and friends. If you're the cook in the house your quality time can be when it's all over and done with and the clearing away has finished!

Time spent in the kitchen preparing food for family and friends is one of the great pleasures but often by the time the revelries begin you are too worn out to enjoy them. Preparation is undoubtedly the key and if you can get ahead you're more likely to enjoy the big day with the rest of the family.

Start menu planning now

Draw up menus for all the meals you plan to make over the Christmas holidays well in advance, including all drinks, breakfasts and snacks. Starting this task early gives you time to look at new ideas, search out recipes and change your mind or amend if circumstances or guest numbers change.

Get it right

Once you've found the recipes you want, read the recipes, then read them again. There's nothing worse than realising on Christmas Eve you are missing a vital ingredient, pan, or worse, you don't know how to do it. Choose or check recipes to see if dishes can be made in advance and frozen or how long they will keep once cooked so they can be prepared one or two days in advance. Clean out the freezer well before Christmas - you can't do this job early enough. Sort the freezer out and make space for Christmas food to be stored together in one place. Rummaging through an overstocked, messy freezer, trying to find food can become irritating.

Top tips for a stress-free Christmas

The list

Shopping is one of the biggest jobs at Christmas, so to simplify the task make a master-shopping list of everything you will need, including any new cooking equipment.

Divide the list into perishable and non-perishable goods including wines and spirits. Buy all non-perishable goods, wines and spirits well in advance as many supermarkets and shops stock them as early as October.

Many online wine and drinks companies will sell wines in mixed cases and will recommend wines suitable for Christmas food so use their expertise. They also deliver, one less job to do.

Order any specialist goods (perishable and non-perishable) well in advance and check if they deliver.

Perishable goods don't need to be bought on Christmas Eve. Buy them a day or two before and store them in the fridge or a cool, frost-free place.

Don't be overambitious This is one area where many fall down by taking on too much to do in too short a time. Be realistic when it comes to balancing what is required in the kitchen and everywhere else (gift-wrapping, housework, kids and family).

Delegate

If you want to be a domestic goddess that's fine, but if you can delegate a few jobs - peeling the potatoes, polishing the silver, whatever - it will help ease the pressure. Surprisingly many people do like to help and share the fun in the kitchen so don't be afraid to ask. No one wants a frazzled cook at the Christmas table.

Time plan

TIME spent making a time plan for Christmas Eve and Christmas Day is time well-spent. Not only does it help in organising the cooking, it also organises the mind and it is astonishing how many forgotten jobs turn up when writing a time plan. This Christmas Time Plan lays out the most important jobs and can be adjusted to fit with your menu. Don't forget - build time for you into the time plan. Time to get ready or have a cup of tea is as important as a perfectly cooked dinner.

Toys

THE top 12 must-have toys for Christmas this year include a mix of old favourites and up-to-the-minute technology.

The list of "dream toys", released by the Toy Retailers Association (TRA) for the festive season, includes favourites such as Fireman Sam, Elmo and a Nerf Vortex Nitron Blaster gun.

The top 70 toys, from which the final 12 are chosen, include two interactive tablets, both competing for the four- to nine-year-olds market, and both clearly designed to imitate the iPad, a favourite toy of many parents.

The VTech InnoTab, operates with touch screen technology, while the LeapPad Explorer relies on a stylus to operate it. Both retail at £79.99.

The TRA list is the industry's official predictions of the Christmas bestsellers. This year it said most of the products "have a technological twist".

VTech's Kidizoom Digital Camera, which was the best-selling toy last year, has been given a makeover and relaunched as Kidizoom Twist this year, making it once again into the top 12.

In a twist on the technological theme, Mattel's plastic version of the bestselling phone app, Angry Birds, made it into the top 12 toys chosen by children.

Gary Grant, chairman of the TRA's Dream Toys selection panel, said: "We've seen some amazing technological advancements from the toy industry. This doesn't mean to say that the toys are 'techy', rather that technology has been used to enrich the whole experience of play.

"Throughout the top 70 toys we're also seeing a fantastic mix of the old and new - including traditional brands like

It's play time - dozen toys it's

EIGHT TO RATE: Eight of the top 12 toys this year are, clockwise, from left, Leapfrog Explorer (Leapfrog Toys, £79.99), Let's Rock Elmo (Hasbro, £69.99), Monster High Lagoona's Hydration Station (Mattel, £39.99), Fireman Sam Pontypand Rescuer Set (Character, £29.99), Moshling Tree House (Vivid, £19.99), Fijit Friends (Mattel, £54.99), Milky the Bunny (Flair, £59.99) and Kidizoom Twist (VTech, £49.99)

Scalextric powering into 2012 with an Olympic-inspired set; a board game of skill and action based on the phenomenon that is the Angry Birds app; and classic characters such as Mickey Mouse brought bang up to date for today's savvy kids. All proving that the industry continues to be incredibly forward thinking, innovative and adaptable."

For the first time in its history, this year the TRA asked children to vote for their favourites. That list mirrors some of the TRA's own but includes new takes on classic toys such as the Star Wars Lego Millennium Falcon (RRP £129.99) and a Playmobil Top Agents Super Racer car that floats on water and has wings and fins.

The TRA said mums gave their seal of approval to two favourite pre-school toys:

Mattel's Imaginext Batcave (RRP £49.99), and the VTech's Kidizoom Twist (RRP £49.99).

A spokeswoman for Mattel said she believed this year mums were looking for toys that offered "good play value". She added: "Mums are still buying the same quantity of presents that they were before, as children tend to notice if they have fewer boxes under the tree, but now they are looking to spend say £150 instead of £200 and get more play time out of the toys they buy."

Stop renting, start owning.

With a baby on the way, David Cohen and Kirsty Thomas couldn't raise enough deposit to secure their first property. However, with the help of Barratt Homes, they moved in to a brand new house at its Fifth Avenue development in Harlow, just in time for the birth of their daughter, Lexi.

David and Kirsty bought a brand new two-bedroom house at the development with the help of HomeBuy Direct, a joint scheme between the government and Barratt Homes where the couple only needed to raise a minimal deposit. Purchasers require a minimal five per cent deposit and only need to find a mortgage worth up to 80 per cent of the value of the property. Barratt contributes the remaining amount in the form of an interest-free loan, which can be paid back over ten years or when the property is sold - whichever is sooner.

David, who works for London Underground, explained: "Kirsty was expecting our first child and we were keen to buy our first home before the baby was born. We had some deposit saved but not enough to secure a mortgage. We were delighted when we learnt about the shared equity scheme - it suddenly meant that owning our own home had become a possibility. It was all fairly straight-forward and Barratt supported us through the whole process. We are absolutely delighted with our new home."

Fifth Avenue is a stylish community of one and two bedroom apartments and two, three and four bedroom houses, carefully designed around areas of open space. Situated close to the centre of Harlow in Essex, the development has proven popular and is now in its third phase. David and Kirsty had previously been living with his parents in Chingford but came to view Fifth Avenue when it was highly recommended by a friend who had bought at the development.

David said: "We had been looking at a few other new-build developments in Ongar when a friend of ours suggested we consider Fifth Avenue. She bought an apartment in one of the earlier phases and was delighted with her new home and the location. On viewing what was on offer, things just fell in to place and we knew we had found the right home for us."

Just a short walk from Harlow town centre, residents at Fifth Avenue are well placed to benefit from the broad range of facilities on offer. A thriving shopping centre includes all the major retailers along with a wide choice of cafes, restaurants, bars and pubs. Harlow Town station is just one mile from the development and provides regular services to London Liverpool Street in just 35 minutes.

David commented: "Harlow is great and we have been really surprised how we have settled in. The town centre has everything we need, just a short walk away. It is great to have escaped the hustle and bustle and with such great train links, we know we can always get into London really quickly if we want to."

For young families, Harlow has a wide selection of education facilities to choose from. It has 31 primary schools and five special status schools and colleges, with attaining exam results well above the national average. The Downs Primary School and Nursery and Little Parndon School are the closest to Fifth Avenue, just half a mile away.

The final 2 homes available with HomeBuy direct are complete and ready to move in to, making them ideal for first-time buyers on a limited budget. Properties benefit from stylish fully-fitted kitchens with a full-range of integrated appliances including oven, hob, extractor hood and fridge/freezer. Bathroom suites, en-suites and cloakrooms feature smart white sanitary ware and are finished with chrome taps and fittings.

Honda Civic: The next generation

By Matt Joy

HONDA caused quite a stir when it launched its previous generation Civic. To say it was a radical departure from the norm is an understatement.

Aimed at attracting younger drivers to the brand, its radical appearance went some way to helping Honda towards its goal. What we have now is the ninth generation Civic, a car packing greater levels of refinement and comfort while also delivering a driving experience that should please those seeking a bit of fun from their daily commute. In diesel form the car is also considerably cleaner.

This Civic's overall stance might be similar to the previous car but it's been softened slightly fore and aft. A black centre section replaces the glossy nose of old, while at the back the design of the car's light bar has been toned down. Plus its been repositioned as part of tailgate redesign to boost rearward visibility. And there's now a rear wiper – proof that Honda does listen to customer feedback.

Overall, though, the Civic retains its athletic-looking profile. The glass area has been reduced to exaggerate the 'sporty' character, along with the inclusion of the steeply raked windscreen.

The sporty theme continues

FACT file

Honda Civic 1.8 EX GT

PRICE

from £24,495 on the road. Civic range from £16,495-£26,595

Engine:	1.8-litre petrol unit developing 142bhp
Transmission:	6-speed manual driving the front wheels
Performance:	0-62mph in 9.6s, maximum speed 134mph
Economy:	46.3mpg
CO <sub>2</sub> Rating:	145g/km

inside with the driver's environment divided into an almost wraparound section including the main instruments and gearlever, making you feel like you're in the cockpit of a racing car.

The rest – high level digital speedometer, audio unit, climate controls – are above and to the left respectively where you'd expect them.

Unusually for a car in this class, cabin space is also good. It's often a compromise – good up front but only fine for children in the back – but Honda touts the Civic as having class-leading cabin space and adult-friendly rear legroom.

Furthermore, the Civic's load carrying abilities are no less impressive. There's a second trunk compartment in the boot floor for your valuables, and with 477 litres and 1,378 litres available with the rear seats up and folded flat respectively, the new Civic follows in the footsteps of the smaller Jazz with its above-average carrying capacity.

And like the Jazz, the Civic comes with 'magic' seats. These rear seats not only fold flat but, as part of the 60:40 split arrangement, they can be folded upright to reveal a further load option for tall items. In a few quick moves both the seat back and cushion can be locked out of the way to accommodate Aunt Ethel's large pot plant. Honda isn't just satisfied appealing to our practical side, though. The Civic's three engines – two petrol, one diesel – have been revamped to deliver more savings at the pump and when paying the tax man. In manual transmission guise they all get the now expected engine stop-start feature for good measure. A five-speed auto option is available for the 1.8 petrol Civic.

Petrol power remains the dominant option in the Civic line-up but the big changes have been reserved for the 2.2-litre diesel engine, which has gained 10 more horsepower yet dropped 24g to register 110g/km CO<sub>2</sub> and is now EU5 rated. This is obviously a big deal, and with such tax-friendly credentials the car is now a more attractive proposition for company car drivers.

For all the changes, has Honda succeeded in rounding off the Civic's quirky corners? By and large, yes. On the road the car's new electric power steering has been cleverly calibrated to deliver a good balance of weight and feel. The redesigned manual gearshift is more accurate and requires less effort. Forward visibility is good, the view rear is better.

The general ride is on the firm side of supple. It's clearly biased towards reducing pitch and roll in the corners but the strut front and rear beam axle set-up has been honed to deliver an impressively sophisticated ride on even the worst urban roads.

With four trim levels boasting generous levels of kit, a cabin delivering a high quality ambience and above average levels of space and a flexible load carrying capacity that's hard to beat elsewhere, Honda's attention to detail should be commended.

Style-wise, this Civic is less polarising and its on road performance is more rounded and mature. It's still fun, though. In fact, with the improvements to its engine range it could now be described as good clean fun.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Junior school team reach final at Arsenal

A DREAM has come true for the Year 6 football team from William Martin Junior School which has qualified to play in a tournament at Premier League giants Arsenal.

The side from the Tawneys Road school will take on other schools from London and the Home Counties at The Emirates on February 9.

This was after the Harlow representatives were runners-up in the Essex county finals in Colchester.

A school spokesman said: "They were a credit to William Martin Junior School and their families. A massive thank you must also go to Tony Wickenden, a coach from Paringdon Sports Club, who trains the team. We cannot wait to see how the boys will get on at Arsenal."

William Martin lost to Moulsham Primary School in the final on penalties after the game had finished 0-0.

However, William Martin had accumulated more points in the group stages than any other team and so progress to the next stage.

The team met West Leigh, Mersea Island, Stebbing, Kents Hill, Buttsbury, St Thomas and Chalkhill on their way to the final.

Gutsy Ladies hold league leaders East London

IT was a gutsy performance but second-placed Harlow were unable to make any ground as they were held to a draw at leaders East London.

East London remain five points ahead of Harlow after Saturday's hard-fought clash.

The hosts, who had won all nine previous league games, exerted the early pressure.

Harlow's defence, including replacement keeper Becks Dolan, held firm.

However, the hosts went ahead on 25 minutes when a cross from the left was deflected at high speed past Dolan into the net.

Harlow were unable to penetrate through penalty corner routines either side of the break, but equalised on 55 minutes.

Georgina Esterhuysen was on hand to convert her own short-corner routine following a strike from Carolyn Welsford.

Five minutes later a Welsford shot hit the left post.

Strong determination from Harlow's defence denied East London from a penalty corner which was the final play of the game.

Dolan's double save followed up by a clearance from Kerner-Bignel off the line and denied East London in the final seconds to ensure a share of the spoils.

Hawks find spark as cup tie awaits

Cambridge Cougars 68, Harlow Hawks 60

Herts County Basketball Cup, group A game

THE Hawks warmed up for their National Founders Cup tie against Loughborough University at leisurezone this Saturday with a narrow defeat at Cambridge.

With a number of players missing, it was always going to be a tough task against Cougars.

Hawks started well and forced the Cougars into a number of turnovers.

Simon Atkinson showed great composure to finish a number of plays, while Joe Taffe-Atkins also showed great touch from beyond the arc to drain two three-pointers.

Hawks led for most of the quarter, but a late flurry of points from the home side saw the Cougars lead 20-13 heading into the second period.

With Hawks only having one sub, there was little chance of a rest and with tired legs the defence rotation slowed and created some gaps on the outside which led to Cougars hitting some long-range jumpers.

Luke Atkinson blocked most who dared to attack the basket.

Luke and his brother Simon did the damage on the inside at the other end, but Hawks headed into the half-time break down 40-26 and in need of the 10 minutes' rest.

During the half-time break, late arrival Lee Jones came on.

Jones hustled and harried, coming up with a number of stops to start the Hawks' fast breaks.

He brought energy to tired legs and it had a resounding effect as the visitors closed the 15-point gap.

Taffe-Atkins attacked the basket and was backed up by Jones and Zaf Niaz, while Shab Niaz provided the arsenal from three-point land.

BALL CONTROL: Harlow Hawks player-coach Shab Niaz (HSP0783947)

Good ball movement allowed Nick Moss to attack from the wing and close the gap to just three points at the end of the third with the Cougars leading 52-49.

Taffe-Atkins and L. Atkinson cut the lead to just one point, but fatigue was beginning to creep in as some poor shot choices from the Hawks slowed their scoring in the final quarter.

Cougars went on an 8-2 run and then slowed the game down to secure a 68-60 victory.

Coach Niaz said: "That was a tremendous effort from every single player and I'm really proud of how we played. We are improving each game and that is the most important thing for me at the moment.

"It would have been easy to let our heads drop when they started to extend their lead, but we reacted brilliantly to get ourselves back into the game."

HARLOW HAWKS: Taffe-Atkins (21pts), S. Atkinson (15pts), L. Atkinson (10 pts), S. Niaz (6pts), Moss (4pts), Z. Niaz (2pts), Jones (2pts).

● ENTRANCE is £1 for Saturday's cup game. Tip-off is 7.25pm.

Late winner for Harlow

Harlow 1, Old Southendians 0
East Men's Hockey League, division four south east

IT was a case of the late show as James Smith's goal four minutes from time sealed a win for Harlow over Old Southendians.

It was 0-0 and beginning to look like a draw on Saturday when a three-man move ended with Smith converting Adam Otley's square pass.

Harlow maintained their lead to preserve their unbeaten home record in the league and move up to third in the table.

Earlier, the home defence rarely looked troubled in the first half, which saw Harlow's best moment come and go on 15 minutes when Andy Boughtwood's shot was excellently saved by the visitors' keeper.

The hosts exerted pressure after the break, but had a narrow escape on 50 minutes.

A Southendians' forward was through on goal, but Harlow's Kyle Plumridge made a last-ditch challenge and the ball went wide of the home goal.

Reprieved, Harlow went on to win through Smith.

HARLOW: Hastler, Castle, Plumridge, Krzoska, Grace, Symonds, Smith, Cholerton, Kirk, Boughtwood, Light. Subs: Otley, Hagger.

Top marathon PB for Jamie

HARLOW Running Club member Jamie Jephcott completed the Luton Marathon in an excellent 59th position out of 490 finishers in a personal best (PB) time for the distance of 3 hours, 13 minutes and 29 seconds.

Meanwhile, at the St Neots Half Marathon in Cambridgeshire, Paul Jeffrey-Read finished 79th out of 950 runners in a superb debut time of 1:27.29.

At the Chelmsford 10K, Rob Lowe was 29th out of 329 runners in a 10K PB of 37.15.

● LEWIS Harknett led the Harlow Athletic Club's U-13 boys team home in 10th spot in 12.09 in the Essex Cross Country League round three at Hadleigh Park.

Christian Barker (13.13), Owen Harknett (13.45) and Harry Prentice also did well.

In the U-15 boys 4km race, Harry Phillips was 25th (21.39).

Harlow's Rosie Poole and Amelia Barrett have been selected to represent Essex at Lloyd Park, Croydon in the SEAA Inter Counties Cross Country Championships on December 10.

winner seconds before the end.

Skipper Danny Brown's excellent through ball was latched onto by Peagram who eluded a defender and evaded keeper Andrew Hall - who had come storming out of his area.

However, Peagram blasted wide of an open goal from 35 yards out.

"He just did not get his foot round the ball," said Chapman. "As a back four we were the best we have been all season. Ryan Kirby and Jack Haverson did exceptionally well."

HARLOW IN: Bossu 7, Bruno 6, Brown 7, Haverson 7, Kirby 6, Kilapi 6, Marshall 6 (Peagram 86), Lalite 6, Wixon 7, Bunn 6 (Karagi 42), Karagi 6 (Deane 65). Sub not used: Wheeler. Bookings: Bunn (dissent), Kilapi (foul), Lalite (foul), Karagi (foul), Haverson (foul). Att: 182.

Great Brit!

JUDO player Ronnie Plumb is now ranked third in Great Britain in his weight category after a notable triumph.

This was after the 20 year-old, from Harlow, won his third senior British ranking judo event when he clinched victory in the Eastern Open at Thetford in Norfolk.

He won four contests by an Ippon, the maximum score.

His wins included triumphs over National Masters champion Samson Omonua and international champion Neil Schofield (Kent).

This gives him 400 points in the ranking list, only 20 points behind Chris Sherrington, Scotland's contender for a spot at the London Olympics.

Youth holds sway over experienced rivals

A YOUNG Upper Clapton Rugby Club team held their nerve to beat a more experienced Clacton side 40-30 at home in the Essex (Canterbury Jack) League on Saturday.

Clacton scored two tries in the first half. Both of the conversions were missed and were more than outweighed by scores for the home side.

John Gunnell and Matt Thomson touched down for tries, while Ross Stalley kicked a conversion and a penalty.

Jake Phelps also kicked a 40-metre drop goal as Clapton led 18-10 at the half-time break.

Second-half tries for Clapton came from Laurie Dobbin, Stalley and Clinton Dorling.

Stalley kicked two conversions and a penalty, taking his haul to an impressive 17 points.

Clacton scored three tries in the second half, making the score fairly close with a penalty and a conversion.

● HARLOW Rugby Club's youth teams played a series of friendlies.

The U-16s beat Upminster

43-24. Try-scorers were Rhys Davies (3), Aaron Humphreys, Harry Smythe, Mitchell Sinfield and Dumi Dhlamini.

The U-15s lost 15-10 to Enfield Ignatians. Jack Almond scored both tries.

Other results: Harlow U-14 36 (tries: Watkins 2, King, Pace), Colchester 15; Harlow U-13 22 (tries: Liam Jones 2, Alfie Fletcher, Jarrod Bates), Saffron Walden 15. # Howes about that?

Bowls player's top season as milestone approaches

TOP women's bowls player Ruth Howes has maintained her top form as she grows close to an incredible 30 years of playing her favourite sport.

The Harlow Bowling Club member, who was president of the English Women's Bowling Association in 2007, has completed yet another wonderful season.

The highlight of this was when she captured the Essex County Women's Bowling Association's Singles championship.

She represented Essex at the English National Finals in Worthing where she won her first game 21-0.

However, she went out in the second round, losing narrowly by three shots to international player Jayne Christie (Cambridgeshire).

There is now only one title that has eluded her – which will be a challenge for next year – and that is the two-bowl singles championship.

Ruth lives in Old Harlow near the Harlow Bowling Club in Elderfield.

She has been playing for 28 years since she joined the club in the early 1980s.

Over that time she has represented Essex on numerous occasions.

Following on from her time as president, Ruth was a director of Bowls

England – the now unified body of outdoor bowls – for three years.

She also umpired at the Commonwealth Games in Manchester in 2002, and at the World Bowls Championships in Scotland in 2004 and in New Zealand in 2008.

She said: "It's a tremendous sport to get into and I would encourage anyone who can no longer run around a tennis court, or football pitch, to try bowls. It keeps you fit and away from the doctor's surgery – most of the time! If you are competitive, or just want a leisure activity, then give bowls a try."

Ruth has also enjoyed success with her home town club.

Harlow won both the Lea Valley League title and the triples and are looking forward to next season, which starts again in April.

An open fun day will be held in May when people can try bowling for free.

The club is particularly keen to recruit young players.

Trophy after Wales trek for race ace

karting

TEN-year-old Harlow racer Matthew Hayden continued his progress in the Honda Cadet series by finishing third in the first of three rounds of the Super One National Winter Series.

This was held at Glan y Gors near Snowdonia in North Wales.

Pear Tree Mead Primary School pupil Matthew, who is a member of Hoddesdon's Rye House Kart Raceway, qualified in fifth from the three heats to determine who would go through to the final.

In heat one, Matthew stormed to victory.

He looked set for a repeat in heat two after leading for most of the race, but was pushed out onto the grass on the final lap and came home 6th.

In heat three, Matthew set the fastest lap and finished in third. This gave him enough points to start the final in third spot on the grid.

In the final, Matthew took the lead on lap two, but after a long battle and a great race with Connor Grady (Kent) and Morgan Porter (Surrey), the Harlow youngster was a very creditable third behind winner Connor and runner-up Morgan.

Matthew stands second in the Super One National Winter Series.

The two remaining rounds of the series take place at the PFI circuit in Lincolnshire (February 25-26) and at Shenington in Oxfordshire (March 10-11).

Meanwhile, at Rye House, Matthew was third in Honda Cadet racing for 8- to 13-year-olds on November 6.

He had qualified in second but still picked up a trophy for his efforts.

Twenty-seven racers competed in all.

Kilapi (family wedding) so skipper and left-back Danny Brown was switched to central midfielder to cover his absence.

replaced Donny Barnard (groin injury) at right-back.

In a very quiet first half, Harlow's best chance came on 17 minutes when a superb cross from full-back

Bruno was headed just over the bar by striker James Bunn.

Michael Toner put the visitors ahead through a 41st-minute volley after the Hawks defence fell asleep.

Harlow picked up the pace in the second half and should have equalised on the hour mark as another Bruno cross found its way to the back post but Brown was unable to turn the ball home.

The hosts eventually equalised through an own goal in the 84th minute after Taylor's free-kick went in off a Swifts defender after Hawks substitute James Pearnam challenged for the ball.

Late action saw Hawks keeper Bertrand Bossu make a brilliant save on 87 minutes before Pearnam forced an excellent stop from the visitors' keeper.

A rueful Harlow Town boss Danny Chapman said: "If we had taken our chances, we would have won. It was a good performance but it was one of those games that you get a point from. We did not get beaten."

Ex-Hawks ace stars in adidas advert with Messi and Co

By ALASDAIR GOLD

IT'S not often a young local footballer can boast sharing screen time with superstars like Lionel Messi.

David Silva and Ashley Young, but former Harlow Town star Max Mitchell can do just that.

The 21-year-old midfielder was plucked from hundreds of hopefuls to appear in an adidas web advert called The Hunt for Fast, which shows a sportsman in a new device iCoach, which fits into their boots and measures a player's movements and speeds during a match.

Nearly 100,000 have viewed it on website YouTube.

Mitchell, who joined Harlow last spring from Ware, switched to neighbours Waltham Abbey last month and played against his old side in Hawks' 3-1 win at Capershots last week.

He told the Star that his acting debut wasn't too much of a stretch as he simply had to do what he does best – play football.

"It was an amazing experience. Messi filmed his bit in Barcelona and Ashley Young in Manchester, but David Silva came down to the two-day shoot in Wanstead. I was a bit star-struck as he's one of the best midfielders in the world," he said.

"I had to do take after take on the pitch, but it was great fun. I wasn't nervous at all. I also got to do a bit of acting in the changing room, banging my boots on the wall and stuff like that. It was a great experience."

The talented midfielder works with autistic children at Durants School in Enfield where he lives, and said the youngsters gave him a great reception when they were shown the advert.

However, Mitchell admitted that there was one aspect of his game which didn't quite fit the advert.

"It's called The Hunt for Fast, because the boots can tell you how fast you are," he revealed. "Mine would probably just tell me how slow I am though! I'm probably one of the slowest players on a pitch!"

As well as playing for Harlow, Ware and Abbey, Mitchell has turned out for the likes of Broxbourne Borough V&E and Cambridge City despite his tender age.

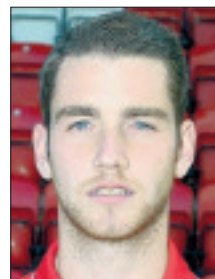

The player still has dreams of making it big in the game. "I feel I can definitely play at a higher level in the game," he admitted. "I'm very confident in my own ability, but I also know there's stuff I still have to work on."

"I just love having the chance to play football on Tuesdays and Saturdays every week."

Up, Up and away for super Rams

Harlow 34, Upminster 15

RFU London & SE, division three north east

A STRONG first half laid the platform for Harlow's home victory over Upminster and kept the pressure on leaders Holt.

Harlow remain second, four points behind their Norfolk rivals after Saturday's well-earned triumph against their mid-table opponents.

Lee Harron's men have now won eight of their nine games and have opened up a six-point gap over third-placed Stowmarket.

The Rams thwarted the swift Upminster backs in the opening period before they went on to score four first-half tries.

Harlow went ahead after 17 minutes. Good team play preceded winger Rob Mackie chipping ahead and out-sprinting the Upminster defender to touch down an unconverted try.

Six minutes later, home prop Danny Stonehouse scored from a rolling maul and the hosts led 10-0.

Accurate tactical kicking by Michael Dobson kept Upminster pinned in their half and the hosts increased their advantage on the half hour.

Winger Wenez Kotze came into the line and split Upminster's defence wide open to touch down close to the posts.

Dobson kicked the conversion.

Upminster then missed two penalties and on the verge of half-time, Harlow scored their fourth try and secured a bonus point.

Kotze followed up his own excellent grubber kick to score his second try.

Dobson slotted the conversion and the hosts led 24-0.

Shortly after the break, Upminster got on the scoreboard with a penalty before Harlow scored again on 50 minutes.

A good break by Paul Eynon from a scrum preceded full-back Aled Hills taking an inside pass and touching down. Dobson missed this conversion.

Upminster struck back with two tries between the 65th and 68th minutes.

Both originated from good running play by their backs.

One conversion was kicked, but Harlow still led 29-15.

Subsequently, the Rams kept the ball among their forwards.

And pressure from the Harlow forwards committed the home defence and gave Dobson the opportunity to come in at pace and crash over the line to complete the scoring late on.

Harlow take a break from league action to play London division three south east side Maidstone away in the third round of the Senior Vase competition this Saturday.

Mackie, the Harlow wing, said: "We aim to win very home game this season and we kept up this record. We also responded to pressure well after they [Upminster] had a good period in the second half."

"Mark Bowering tackled really well for us in the centre and it was good to get a bonus point."

Boss wants fan power to boost bid for third FA Trophy upset

DANNY Chapman's Hawks will look to complete a hat-trick of wins over Ryman League premier division opponents when they host Lowestoft Town in the third and final qualifying round of the FA Trophy this Saturday.

Harlow Town will have their work cut out as the Suffolk side are third in their division and pressing for promotion to the Blue Square Bet South.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman, left, is quite happy his side have the underdog tag.

He said: "They are in the division above and near the top. They will be a decent side."

"There is no pressure. Nobody is expecting us to win. It's away from the league and it will be a good day."

Harlow can draw confidence from victories over Ryman League premier clubs Concord Rangers and Lewes in the previous two rounds.

Chapman is also hopeful the town can get behind the Hawks. He said: "We have been 2-0 down twice and come back to win 3-2. They say the FA Cup can be special and may be the FA Trophy can be special for us."

"Hopefully we will cause an upset. The supporters were fantastic [against Grays on Tuesday], but we need more [support]. We need as many people as we can [get]."

Harlow also have the chance to earn another £4,000 on top of the £5,200 they have already picked up from the two previous wins.

The Hawks boss is looking forward to the game, but has fitness doubts surrounding some of his players.

Forward James Bunn (thigh) and keeper Bertrand Bossu (groin) are doubtful after sustaining injuries against Grays.

Chapman said: "We will have to see about them. Michael Dumoulin can help us out for the odd game, but if Bertrand is going to be out for some time we will have to get a keeper in."

Right-back Donny Barnard (groin) is doubtful, while defender Lamar Lemonius (knee) is definitely ruled out.

"Donny only has a 40 per cent chance of being fit. Tom Bruno is more than capable of filling in," said Chapman.

"Lemonius has injured his knee. He has to get properly fit first."

Striker Murat Karagul, who has signed on a 28-day loan from Ryman premier side Wingate & Finchley and came on as a substitute on Tuesday, is cup-tied.

This means that James Peagram is likely to start if Bunn is unfit.

Chapman also hopes to sign a teenage central defender from nPower League One club Leyton Orient.

He is set to start training with Harlow today (Thursday).

Hero returns as Hawks hold title hopefuls

Harlow Town were well worth their point on Tuesday, fighting back from being a goal down at the break.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "We did not keep the ball well enough in the first half. We spoke to them at half-time

Harlow Tn 1, Grays Ath 1
Ryman League, division one north and we got a reaction."

This hard-fought clash saw five bookings incurred by Harlow for various indiscretions. Clear-cut chances were rare.

On 15 minutes, the nifty Joao Carlos forced Hawks keeper Bertrand Bossu to make a superb diving save.

Shortly after, Luke Marshall fired over at the other end from a half-cleared corner.

Striker James Bunn was being treated for a thigh injury and Harlow were down to 10 when the visitors went ahead on 39 minutes.

Ex-Bishop's Stortford striker Leon McKenzie's header from a free-kick took a deflection before going into the net.

Shortly after this, Bunn was replaced by debutant striker Murat Karagul, signed from Wingate & Finchley.

Harlow levelled seven minutes after the break when Piers Wixon headed in Mark Taylor's free-kick from the right.

Bossu was handicapped by a groin injury, but bravely soldiered on.
